Ice storm kills Spring

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

The regional transit plan approved last week by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will have an impact on Western Wayne County with improved bus and small bus service, and a commuter rail service.

One of the most important features for the area will be creation of daily train runs between Ann Arbor and Detroit, with a stop planned for the city of Wayne, and probably also in Canton and Dearborn.

The plan is to offer 11 round-trip runs, 22 trips, moving commuters from the suburbs into Detroit, and from Detroit into the suburbs. Traffic will go both ways, creating not only downtown commuter service, but "reverse commuter" service bringing persons, for instance, from Dearborn into Wayne.

The train stations in Wayne and other suburbs are seen as a possible boom for the downtown areas. Wayne, in particular, has grown increasingly concerned about revitalizing its downtown, and the commuter train stop could be a real asset in generating "foot traffic" coming into Wayne. For instance, commuters will drive or be driven into the city to catch the train, generating more awareness of what the downtown has to offer.

The SEMTA proposed plan would eventually also tie the train system into feeder bus systems, so travelers could get off the train and take a bus home, according to a SEMTA spokesman who outlined the impact of the plan on Western Wayne County.

Small bus systems are also being put into operation for the area, according to the spokesman. SEMTA this week started the Wayne Essential Transportation Service (ETS) that will utilize a fleet of small buses to transport senior citizens and the handicapped anywhere in Wayne County.

In the Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Canton and Garden City area, this would essentially be an expansion of the service already provided by the Nankin Transit Commission (NTC), which transports seniors and the handicapped in the four-community area.

In addition, the SEMTA spokesman added, a dial-a-ride system is in the works for the general public. Again using small buses, citizens could call and get same-day rides. This plan would be

The transportation package for southeast Michigan adopted last week by the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) includes proposed plans for commuter rail service at three suburban spots. One is a line that will run between Ann Arbor and

Detroit, with a stop in Wayne. Wayne civic leaders are hopeful that the train stop will bring more people to the city, generating people and business traffic in the downtown area, part of Wayne's "revitalization."

Romulus Rotary Club to host district meet

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Rotary Club is gearing up its plans to host the 63rd annual conference of Rotary International District 640 at Traverse City from May 10-13.

Preparations for the four-day meeting at Park Place Motor Inn are being handled by local club president, Doug Baum, and the 42 Romulus Rotarians. Outgoing Governor of District 640, Jason Lovette, also resides in Romulus and is helping in arranging the agenda for the annual get-together.

"Plans are well underway for a gala conference and we're looking for a good turnout of Rotarians from District 640, which includes southeastern Michigan and Ontario, Canada," Lovette said.

Rotary, which consists of business and professional people, has more than 2,500 members in 47 clubs in the district. Local clubs in and near Associated Newspapers' circulation area include those in the communities of Wayne, Westland, Canton, Belleville, New Boston, Garden City, Dearborn Heights and Plymouth.

The first two days of the conference will be taken up with general sessions and discussion groups, but there will also be time for leisure and some excitement.

Oscar Frenette, program director of Radio Station WJR, will get the meeting rolling as keynote speaker. Mrs. Helen Milliken, wife of the governor, will address the ladies at one of the sessions.

However, Lovette said there will be activities for the convention attendees, including disco dancing, square dancing, golf, tennis, sailing, a ladies luncheon and the Rotary Governor's Ball.

"There will be something of interest happening all the time, as well as much Rotary information during planning sessions and discussions groups," Lovette said.

Frank Sladen, past-president of Grosse Pointe Rotary Club, will be inducted as the new governor of Rotary International District 640 at the May conference.

Local Rotary Club President Doug Baum, who is district conference chairman, says plans are shaping up real well for next month's important meeting.

"Romulus Rotarians are working very diligently to plan the best conference we've ever had and we are hopeful for a very productive and informative session," Baum said this week.

Baum, a prominent funeral director in Romulus, said approximately 25 local Rotarians are working on the 1979 District Conference Committee. Helping the committee as conference secretary is George Hackett, a member of Dearborn Rotary Club. "George has been a big help to us and we appreciate his efforts very much. We also want to thank everyone who has worked on planning the annual conference," Baum said.

Romulus Rotarians included on the committee and their responsibilities are Jim Wolfinger, treasurer; District I Program, Harlan Whichello, publicity and promotion; Frank Sladen, awards and exhibits; Gordon Silvey, printing; Ron Hopson, hospitality; Carol Crova, music and entertainment; Lynn Carr, ladies' events; Clem Campbell, activities and George Wilhemi, singing.

Helping with finance are Jim Wolfinger, general chairman; Bob Mach, registration and Pete Bergeron, insurance.

Physical arrangements are under the direction of Bill Crova, general chairman; Cass Kasperek, Sergeant-at-arms; Gil White Jr., decorations and salvage; Dave McCrory, parking and transportation and Vince Makino, housing.

District affairs are being supervised by Elmer Goerke, general chairman and Bill Bawden, credentials.

President of Rotary International is Clem Renof of Australia. In case he cannot attend the conference, Soli Pravi of Bombay, India will represent him.

Lovette says he has enjoyed serving as Governor of Rotary International District 640 and eagerly looks forward to the May 10-13 conference.

Buckskin Association is RHA meeting topic

The Buckskin Horse Association of Michigan is the featured topic for the April 18 meeting of the Romulus Horseman's Association, to be held in the Romulus City Hall at 7:30 p.m. Speaking on the Buckskin horse is BHAM Club Secretary Mrs. Sharon Pratt and her husband, Carl, of South Lyon. Mrs. Pratt will talk on registering buckskins, duns, red duns, and the interesting color known as grulla—a blue-gray tinge. The Buckskin horse, with his golden body color and black points has been compared to the Siamese cat. Many of today's Buckskins are double registered as Quarter horses, although the buckskin color can appear in any breed.

Assisting the Pratts will be Marilyn Thomas of New Boston. The Thomas farm boasts the many time champion "Freddie's Nickel" who carried his 12-year-old rider Angie Thomas to the 1976 International Buckskin Show Championship in Denver, Colo. This winning combination has placed in the top 10 nationally every year with only limited showing. There is no charge to attend this meeting, and non-members are urged to participate. Romulus City Hall is located at 11111 S. Wayne Road, Romulus. More information may be obtained by calling Charlotte at 729-6932.

Some of the certified staff, who were notified last week as they were being laid off as administrators. Then when considered once again, this time as seniority they were found to be in a second layoff and will be notified.

The reduction in employees reflects the program cuts that the board has adopted. One hour will be trimmed out of the school day at the junior high and senior high level. High school seniors who would have needed that hour to earn enough credits to graduate will be permitted to take continuing education courses, Superintendent Timothy Dyer added.

The gifted program is being dropped, summer school eliminated, elementary school music, art and physical education reduced by one-third. All reserve athletic teams are being eliminated, leaving only varsity sports, Dyer added.

All elementary school librarians will be gone, and the nursing staff, except those connected with special education and county funded, are being laid off.

Each of the board members expressed regret for having to approve the layoffs.

Senior board member Gerard McGrath said: "During the 16 years ary services, and referral and out-reach programs, and in-home services, including homemaking and chore programs. Seniors will be able to submit testimony both verbally and written at any one of the hearings. Oral statements, however, should be limited to five minutes in length. Locally, the hearings will be at 3 p.m. April 25 at the Sumpter Township Hall, 23480 Sumpter Road and at 10 a.m. April 26 at J Building.

Plan state Rotary meet

Romulus Rotary Club is planning the 63rd annual conference of Rotary International District 640 for May 10-13 at Park Place Motor Inn in Traverse City. Outgoing District 640 President Jason Lovette (left) and Doug Baum, conference committee chairman, are leading the 42 local Romulus Rotarians in preparing the schedule for the four-day annual get-together. Oscar Frenette, program director of Radio Station WJR, will be the keynote speaker and Mrs. Helen Milliken, the state governor's wife, will address a women's session during the conference.

New bus operation will help suburbs

a cooperative effort of SEMTA and the local communities.

Right now, these plans, just like the subway-rail plans for Detroit that were part of the package voted on by the SEMTA board last week, are no more than the board's "preference." The board must hold public hearings throughout the area and feasibility studies on the plans must be completed, before the final vote is taken. Public hearings should begin in the fall, the SEMTA spokesman said.

Regarding feasibility, one of the aspects about the commuter train service that must be ironed out is the scheduling. Currently, the AMTRAK train line does run express commuter lines from Ann Arbor to Detroit, through Wayne and Canton, but stopping neither place. The rail is also used for transporting freight. SEMTA would have to work with AMTRAK to figure out a schedule for it proposed 22 rail trips. The runs would be scheduled throughout the day.

The SEMTA spokesman emphasized that these plans are only a continuation of the ongoing SEMTA planning for transportation. He pointed out that only recently, SEMTA initiated park and ride bus service from the Western Wayne County suburbs to downtown Detroit. One such line goes down Michigan Avenue, with a stop in Wayne. Another proceeds down Ford Road, with stops in Canton Township and Westland. Both are considered "express" because of the limited number of stops.

These are the "background service improvements" that have been added in anticipation of consideration of the full-scale package.

The SEMTA spokesman said that the entire transportation system including the Detroit subway and rail improvements, bus lines and commuter trains, should be completed by 1990. Western Wayne County officials are hopeful that the improvements in the suburbs, particularly the commuter train, can be accomplished much sooner, perhaps by 1982, since there is less work and construction needed to put it together.

The cost of building the new system, including capital outlay such as purchase of buses and trains, will be paid 80 percent by the federal government. Governor Milliken has pledged the 20 percent local match, the SEMTA spokesman said.

Woman arrested in raid

A daylight raid in Romulus by police Friday resulted in the arrest of a 50-year-old woman and the confiscation of a large amount of suspected marijuana and other dangerous drugs.

The woman was arrested at 15418 Collins St., booked at the out-county division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, and released pending issuance of a warrant.

Sgt. Melvin Turner, who conducted the raid at about 2:30 p.m., said six pounds of suspected marijuana and a large quantity of pills and capsules had been set to the crime lab for analysis and identification.

Results of the lab test will determine the exact charge to be lodged against the arrested woman, he explained. Until a warrant is issued, her name cannot be released, he said.

Also confiscated at the raid scene were a rifle and a large amount of money, Turner said. He admitted that the house on Collins Street had been under surveillance for some time.

Area residents, who saw the half dozen or so police cars converge on the Collins Street address, were curious as to the reason for the raid. One neighbor called the Enterprise to report the incident.

New bus service debuts

Mayor William M. Oakley pilots a new SEMTA ETS (essential transportation system) bus through a banner Friday at Romulus City Hall marking the opening of the new service for Romulus senior citizens and non-ambulatory residents. The bus, dispatched from Taylor, will serve Sumpter and Van Buren Townships, as well as the City of Romulus. Fares will start at 50 cents for up to twelve miles of travel, with the purchase of an identification card. Applications are available at the Romulus Public Information Office. For information and dispatch service, the SEMTA number to call is 942-9231. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer)

Police educate 'Watch' members

Jerry Billiter (center), Wayne County Sheriff investigator, points a citizen to another sign-up station during last week's Wyncleft Neighborhood Watch meeting held in Romulus High School auditorium. The volunteer crime prevention program, started last month in the subdivision, already boasts nearly 100 "members" who were loosely organized into groups under "block captains" at last week's meeting. The purpose of the organization is to educate members to keep watch over their neighborhood and take steps to secure their homes against burglary. The program can also involve "court watching", operation I.D., and a variety of other crime prevention techniques.

The next meeting, which will deal with the subject of locks and home security devices, has been tentatively scheduled for Monday, April 4, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. All residents of the area are cordially invited to attend. (Photo by Jay Young.)

In brief

Bloodmobile to visit

The Red Cross bloodmobile will visit the Romulus area Monday, April 23. Donors are asked to come to the St. Aloysius School basement from 1 to 7 p.m. on that day. For additional information, call The Helping Hand office, 941-5323.

VFW egg hunt set

The Romulus VFW will stage its annual Easter egg hunt Sunday, April 15, 1979 in the Huron Metropolitan Park. Children who wish to take part in the egg hunt are asked to meet at 1 p.m. at the VFW Hall, 39270 E. Huron River Dr. VFW members will provide transportation to the park.

Romulus man named postmaster

Ralph R. Farrell (left) of Romulus is shown being sworn in recently as the new postmaster at Carleton by Detroit Postmaster Joseph J. Loukotka. Farrell began work with the U.S. Postal Service 23 years ago at the Inkster Post Office and was transferred to the Taylor Post Office in 1958. Prior to his promotion, he was supervisor of delivery and collection. A native of New York state, Farrell and his wife, Joan, have four children and three grandchildren. John P. Doran, regional postmaster general for the 13-state central region, who made the announcement, said postmasters selected on merit, based on recommendations by a management selection board and appointed by the U.S. Postmaster General.

McDonald's to open in Taylor

By Memorial Day, a new McDonald's Restaurant will open its doors 27630 Eureka Rd., Taylor, just across the line from the city of Romulus. Shown (left to right) at groundbreaking ceremonies last week are: Bruce Smith, area supervisor; Paul Schmitz, new restaurant manager; Mayor Donald L. Zub of Taylor; Pam Fitzgerald, store advertising representative; Dick Shaeffer, operations manager for western Detroit district; and Dick Thompson, director of planning for Taylor. When completed, the new Taylor McDonald's will sport an interior decor of an old fashioned railroad, complete with blinking lights, brass railings, and a Ronald Room for the kiddies with train seats. Nelson completes naval recruit training has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the 8-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects, designed to prepare for further

An aerospace ground equipment specialist, Airman Adams was selected for professional skill, duty performance and exemplary conduct. He is assigned to the 35th Equipment Maintenance Squadron, a part of the Tactical Air Command.

The airman is a 1977 graduate of Romulus High School.

S. Sgt. Terri W. Rose, the son of Mrs. Bette J. Trujillo of West Compton Boulevard, Lawndale, Calif., is now wearing a distinctive service ribbon as a member of an organization which recently received the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Can you survive?

"This is the seventh in a series of 12-articles, entitled Can You Survive, containing survival tips from the U.S. Air Force Survival School at Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash.)

You and two companions are on the second day of a 4-day cross-country ski trip. You are traveling in an area generally above the tree line and are making good time. Suddenly, a drastic change in the weather occurs. The temperature is 15 degrees, the wind is blowing at 10 MPH and is increasing, and it is starting to snow. It is imperative that you get shelter as soon as possible.

WOULD YOU...

A. Begin digging a snow cave.

B. Start collecting available materials for the construction of a lean-to.

C. Continue traveling until you find a good wind break.

D. Move down in to the tree line and locate a downed tree and burrow under it.

TO SURVIVE

In all emergency situations, such as storms, where shelter is mandatory to survive, a person is wise to utilize what is available. In the situation described, alternative (A) is the best selection. Considering your location above the tree line and the prevailing conditions, a shelter that would provide maximum retention of body heat is needed. A snow cave, with three people working on it, can be constructed in a matter of minutes — at least to a point where you are shielded from the elements. Once inside, you can expand the shelter to suit your desires.

Alternative (D) would be acceptable if you were in a well-forested area. Seeking out a downed tree and burrowing is a quick way to get shelter, but under these conditions, (A) is still the best solution, since the distance to such natural shelter is unknown.

(B) does not offer a reasonable alternative. You are in a snow-covered area above the tree line and are faced with severe weather. To attempt to gather materials would unnecessarily subject you to additional loss of body heat and energy.

(C) does not offer a definitive course of action that would solve your immediate needs. A wind break would not be adequate to protect you from the weather. (A service of your local Air Force recruiter).

County committee approves 28 new layoffs

Another round of employee layoffs, this time involving 28 jobs, has been scheduled by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners in a further step to eliminate a $14 million deficit projected for this year.

Approved tentatively at a meeting of the board's Ways and Means Committee on April 5, the new layoffs were designated just one day after a previous decision took effect which struck between 150 to 160 other positions from the payroll.

The new staff reductions apply to offices of the County General Hospital, Board of Auditors and Sheriff. From the hospital 12 more positions were removed, six additional were dropped from the auditing department and eight from the Sheriff.

Although all 27 commissioners sit on the Ways and Means Committee, the cutbacks still must be approved in a meeting of the full board. The layoffs would begin April 29.

According to board chairman Richard E. Manning, the layoffs will provide about $379,000 for one-year funding of a labor relations contract under consideration with the county skilled trades union, along with 29 different positions in the Sheriff's department that are either court-ordered or critical for handling jail prisoners.

"We are in an ironic situation in more ways than one," Manning said. "We're forced into the position of laying off Sheriff's deputies so that we can, in part, allow for salaries of other deputies that the court has ordered us to keep."

"Another complexity is that we must lay off county employees in general in order to fund pay raises won or being considered for fellow employees in recent contract negotiations."

Manning said he was relieved that the court did not interfere in the orderly process of reducing expenses regarding the earlier 150 to 160 job reductions ordered by the board in March. Following that decision, Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) filed suit to block the procedure.

Originally, the layoff decision was to be implemented on April 2, but a court restraining order from Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Theodore R. Bohn delayed the move until April 4 to allow a hearing by visiting Judge Allan C. Miller from Tawas City.

Ruling against AFSCME charges that the board was illegal and discriminatory, Judge Miller did not extend the restraining order or impose the injunction the union asked for to permanently block the layoffs.

"As a result, it is now reasonably clear that both the responsibility and authority for balancing the budget is in the hands of the Board of Commissioners where it properly belongs," Manning added.

Manning said that the layoffs ordered in March were to fund the approximately $2.2 million contract won by AFSCME for its remaining members, and that the job eliminations for April 29 are needed to pay for more than half the cost of the skilled trades agreement.

The coming layoffs will be considered by the full Board tomorrow.

"I'm calling in the 1979 Madonna College Phonathon," is what Pat Glabb of Romulus is telling fellow workers. Ms. Glabb is vice-chairperson of the college's annual telephone appeal, which is in its third week. Listening are

WCGH employee finds lost money, 'Good Samaritan'

If you found a plain envelope containing $321 in cash, with no identification, would you try to find the owner?

A "beautiful person," Shirley Smith of Garden City, did, much to the delight and surprise of a radiation therapy technician at Wayne County General Hospital, who thought she certainly had lost her two weeks pay.

"The whole thing renewed my sagging faith in human kindness," said the grateful Lynn Grigsby of Westland.

Not only did Mrs. Smith turn the money she had found at the hospital into the security personnel, she refused the $50 reward offered to her by the Westland woman.

Ms. Grigsby explained that last Friday, a co-worker volunteered to cash her paycheck, and turned the money over to her in an envelope. Ms. Grigsby thought she put the pay in her pocket and left work.

At the store later, she reached into her pocket for the cash, and it wasn't there.

"I came back (to the hospital) and looked around, but I had no hope at all. I didn't even report it to the police.

"I went home and had a very depressing weekend."

Monday when she came to work, a friend told her that an envelope with cash had been turned into security guard Calvin Sailor of Inkster.

Ms. Grigsby got her money back, the whole amount.

"Apparently, this lady (Mrs. Smith) had been visiting her mother in the hospital. She found my envelope and put it in her purse. She had other things on her mind because her mother was deciding whether or not to have open heart surgery.

"But after the visit, Mrs. Smith turned the money in to the guard."

Ms. Grigsby said she called her benefactor to thank her and offer her the reward. But Mrs. Smith absolutely refused it.

"One of the reasons she gave was because she said the hospital had taken good care of her mother," Ms. Grigsby said.

The grateful Westlander sent flowers to the honest woman to show her appreciation.

Would the average person turn the money in?

"You know, I would like to think that I'd do the same, but I don't know," pondered Ms. Grigsby. "I guess you don't know until it happens to you."

mothers and babies

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS
The average infant gains five to eight ounces a week during his first six months and four to five ounces during his second. Most infants triple their birth weight by their first birthday, but normal healthy infants often vary from these statistics.

Stretch garments from Mothercare are perfect for babies and small children. The all-in-one terry bodysuit stretches as baby grows and can be worn over diaper and waterproof pants. This practical outfit comes from Mothercare, retailing specialists for mothers-to-be and babies through age four.

Most of the time when a baby cries, it's because he's hungry, but after the first few months the cries will come on different tones for different wants and meanings.

Things that matter

BY GEORGE PLAGENZ
United Feature Syndicate

It was 8:30 in the morning. I was on my way to work but I had something on my mind that I wanted to talk to a clergyman about.

My suburb, like scores of others around the country, prides itself on being "a city of churches."

Most of them have "All Welcome" signs on their front lawns, but at this hour all of them were locked tight—this, at least, was true of the four doors I tried.

I passed a gas station with a sign saying, "Mechanic on duty," but my problem wasn't the kind you could fix with a wrench. I wanted to see a sign that said, "Clergyman on duty."

Finally, I settled for a barbershop that had a sign in the window that said, "Three Barbers—No Waiting."

Barbers, like bartenders, I have found, can sometimes do more for me than a clergyman—especially at odd hours when I need a listening ear.

Ministers seem to be available only by appointment. Your friendly barber or bartender will see you any time — and "any time" is often when you want a minister.

Clergymen, I have decided, should have regular office hours like everybody else—a certain period of time each day when anyone can pick up a phone and be certain of catching the minister at church—or when people can walk in off the street and know they will find a clergyman to talk to.

I would like to see a church with a sign on the lawn which says, "Minister available daily except Sunday from 8 to 10 and from 5 to 6" (when people may be on their way to work or on their way home). I am not talking about ministers being available in emergencies. Clergymen usually can be located in those situations. And I know that if you leave a message at the church, most ministers will call you back later. And I know you can make an appointment with any minister for a conference.

What I am talking about is clergymen being available for people who feel the urge to talk to somebody now or cry on somebody's shoulder now. They might not call to make an appointment because the problem does not seem big enough or momentous enough.

It may even be gone tomorrow, but right now it is causing pain and heartache. There are many people who "hurt in little ways" and who feel desperately in need of a listening ear, a word of counsel or encouragement or a prayer together.

But for various reasons they don't want to give their name to a church secretary to "set up an appointment." Churches which insist on callers going through such formalities may lose many any opportunity to be of help.

Most ministers rebel at the idea of fixed hours for themselves. They don't want to be pinned down.

Their reasons usually are not very convincing. The most often heard excuse is "What if an emergency comes up during the time I am scheduled to be at the church?" (Answer: Emergencies don't come up that often. When one does occur, attend to it.)

The other excuse ministers will give for not having drop-in hours is that not enough people would drop in to make it worthwhile. Well, this would make it a good time for the minister to read or work on his sermon.

Meanwhile, it would give people a good feeling to know their minister is there, if they should want him.

A working mother of my acquaintance recently asked her teen-aged daughter if it made any difference to her that she worked.

"No," said the girl, "but I guess it would be nice, if you were here when I got home from school."

"You know," said her mother,

"that I will always come home from the office, if you need me."

"Oh, I know that," said the girl. "I guess I don't need you. It would just be nice to know you're here."

A lot of our foolish fears vanish when we know "someone's there"—whether it turns out we need that person or not.

Loneliness is more than just being all alone. It is the despairing feeling that there will be no answer, if we should want to call somebody we know.

A minister in Boston once made a deal with his congregation. He would be in his office, available to all, from 9 to 12 every morning.

For their part, the people would promise not to call him at home in the evening except for emergencies.

It made everybody—including the minister—happy.

Smith to succeed Giblin as HCMA superintendent

George H. Giblin, park superintendent at the Lower Huron, Willow and Oakwoods metroparks in Wayne Western County, will retire June 9 after serving the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority for more than 32 years.

The announcement was made last week by James J. Pompo, deputy director of the HCMA, who directs operational functions at the 10 metroparks in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Kenneth M. Smith, current assistant park superintendent at Kensington Metropark near Milford, will succeed Giblin.

Giblin, 63, started with the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority in 1946 and first worked at Kensington Metropark near Milford, which was still under initial development as a major recreation site, covering more than 3,500 acres.

Giblin became park superintendent at Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville on Jan. 1, 1952. His first assignment was to take the original 400-acre tract of land and gradually transform it into a major metropark, which now covers 1,500 acres with a great variety of facilities. He also supervises nearby Willow Metropark (1,500 acres) and Oakwoods Metropark (1,715 acres), which opened in the mid-1970s. He has been active in the Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

Giblin was born and raised on the east side of Detroit and was graduated from Denby High School in 1932. He served in the U.S. Army during World II.

He is a long-time resident of Belleville.

Smith joined the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority in 1964, where he started as a buyer in the purchasing department of the main office in Detroit.

GEORGE H. GIBLIN

He was appointed assistant park superintendent at Kensington Metropark on Oct. 14, 1968. Smith graduated from Michigan State University in 1954 with a bachelor of arts degree in business administration. Previously, he worked in the sales department of Standard Oil Company of Detroit, and the Atlantic Refining Company in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He graduated from Milford High School in 1949 and was lifeguard at Kensington Metropark in the summers of 1951-53.

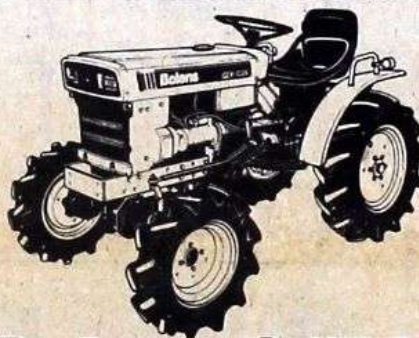

Smith is a member of the National Recreation and Park Association, the Michigan Recreation and Park Association, the Northwest Parks and Recreation Association and is a member and past chairman of the Board of Regents of the Revenue Sources Management School, a professional development school co-sponsored by North Carolina State University and the National Recreation and Park Association. He also graduated from this school and was an instructor for the past 11 years.

KENNETH M. SMITH

Smith and his wife, Marlene, and children, Kevin and Kimberly, reside in Howell.

ARE YOU AWARE of the Real Story?

Easter is not really for Bunny Rabbits or baby chicks. So many children grow up thinking that Easter means a fun day because of chocolate bunnies, colored eggs, chicks and the neat little TV shows that show the good bunny delivering all the pretty eggs, and the bad old grouch who tries to steal the eggs.

Not so much as a word about the real reason for the blessed event of the Resurrection.

Please turn to your Bible and read St. Matthew Ch. 27:62 thru Ch. 28 to verse 15. There the full story, of those who tried to make Jesus a deceiver even after He rose from the dead.

The wonderful news that a Saviour was born, and all the things that Jesus did and taught, would have died with Him had he not risen from the grave as He said He would. It is true, according to printed surveys, that many so-called ministers do not believe in a virgin birth or a risen Christ, and thousands of laymembers believe simply, He, Jesus was a great man.

If Jesus was or is not the son of God, or did not rise from the dead, then He was not a great man or prophet. HE WAS A FRAUD! and the followers of Christ who claimed to have spent many days with him after He had risen from the grave. They would not be good examples for us, as they would also be frauds.

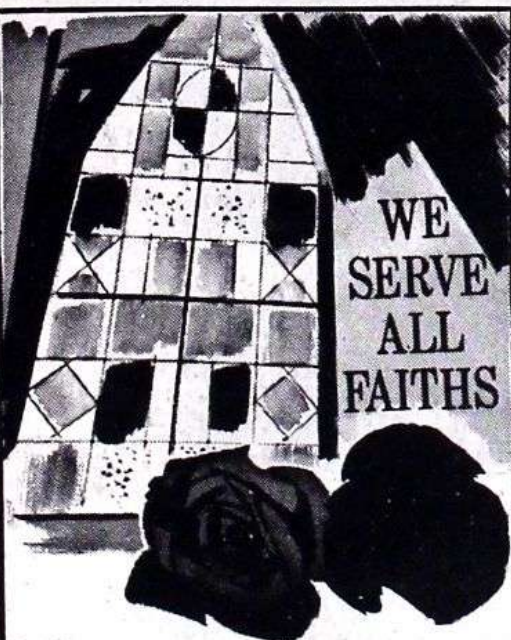

"Dear friends, we believe Jesus is the Son of God, He is very much alive today, believe on Him and be saved. Serve Him and live forever."

On downtown revitalization

Weiser tells Wayne council to 'get moving'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

When Nate Weiser was appointed to the City Council last year he informed the public and his colleagues on the Council, "that I'll be my own man and serve the entire community and not certain interest groups."

Tuesday night Weiser drove that point home as he lashed out at the Council and Administration for sitting on their duffers while the city remained stagnant.

"We have done nothing about the revitalization of this city," said Weiser in one of the most emotional pleas seen in the Council chambers in recent months. "There really is no sense coming down here on Tuesdays because we aren't doing a damned thing."

"The revitalization issue should be before us each and every time we meet," Weiser continued. "We have to roll up our sleeves and get some action and sitting around here isn't going to help."

"In another 14 days (when the council will meet again) summer will be upon us and gone, and if we don't move now then the summer is shot," Weiser said. "Just look at the downtown area — you can shoot a bullet right across the center of the city and it wouldn't hit a thing. We have to start stimulating business and we can do it, but not with talk alone."

Weiser was appointed last year to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Kenneth McKee.

What apparently triggered Weiser's outburst was the administration's reluctance to purchase sidewalk cleaning machines, carbon-copies of those in use in Dearborn. The machines, which have the appearance of "elephants" because of a trunk that picks up the trash, proved to be "duds" when tested by Wayne city officials.

"We broke up some glass and tossed paper on the ground and then attempted to clean it up," said Ted D'Pulos, superintendent of parks and recreation. "And the machines didn't pick up the trash. We finally had to clean up the mess by hand."

Mayor Paul Lada said that the Council is working with the Chamber of Commerce and specifically with Mr. David Willett, (president of the Chamber and Publisher of The Associated Newspapers) on the question of revitalization.

"What concretely has been done?" asked Weiser.

There were no answers, however, Councilman Milton Mack Jr. offered one reason why some of the efforts of the Council has gone unnoticed: lack of publicity.

"I think it is time that we discuss what we're doing in the opening and not in closed meetings," Mack said. "I realize that sometimes it isn't feasible to discuss some matters, such as real estate in public, but a lot of these things can be aired in public."

Mayor Pro Tem Charles West joined the argument by pointing out that "weeds in the central city don't help our city image."

"The vacant lands should be seeded so we'll have grass not weeds in the center of the city," West said. "I feel if we can give the city a park-like atmosphere, then we can encourage development. And seeding isn't going to cost us much."

Councilman Patrick Norton, alluding to a recent editorial which appeared in The Wayne Eagle, (March 22: "Wayne needs today's leaders for today's problems today") said the editorial, "was the strongest condemnation of us (council) in recent years."

(The editorial called upon the council to provide the leadership to revitalize a city that is degenerating. It stated that the problems of the city demand action now.)

"And, do you know what," Norton continued, "as far as I know the community isn't even reacting. That's the real danger. It seems the people have given up on us, too."

Mack reiterated that "major sources of rumors are that we don't discuss some of these problems out in the open. Like the bank. The public doesn't even know that they are contemplating on building a new building."

"They bought the property at a reduced rate and it's time for them to move on the project. At least let them put a sign out there and tell the public what's going on," Mack said.

The Wayne Bank has purchased 1 1/4 acres in the central business area to build a new structure. However, until now, bank officials have kept their plans a secret. "If they aren't going to do something in my lifetime, I want someone else to do it," Mack said. "I don't see why they can't put up a sign that reads: 'Future home of Wayne Bank' on that property."

Richard Gillespie, city engineer, dispelled another rumor, one pertaining to the nearly completed Municipal Parking Structure in downtown Wayne.

"Basically the rumor was that a driver couldn't get into the facility from eastbound Michigan Ave.," Gillespie said, "but that's untrue. We have a plan prepared by Williams Kessler & Associates for a deceleration lane approximately 205 feet in length which will be the equivalent of a fifth lane."

"We have already awarded the bid on the project in the amount of $22,500 for the work in question and the man physically is on the job today (Wednesday) saw-cutting the curb."

"We expect that this job will be completed in two weeks, depending upon the Teamsters' strike," Gillespie added.

Gillespie pointed out that there "are also some internal things that must be completed, such as shields to the stairwells, parking gates before the parking facility will be operational."

The 450-plus parking space structure was built at a cost of $2 million through a federal grant.

Park golf course opens for season

The golf course at Kensington Metropark near Milford is now open. The 18-hole course covers 6,395 yards and Par is 71. Hours — when weather permits due to morning frost conditions — are 8 a.m. to dusk daily, with earlier times on Saturday, Sunday and holidays and extended hours later in the season.

Rates are $4 for nine holes and $7 for 18 holes weekends and holidays and $3.50 for nine holes and $6 for 18 holes weekdays.

For senior citizens 62 years and older the cost is $2 for nine holes and $4 for 18 holes. Play is available daily only. However, there is a restriction on senior golfers May 1 through Labor Day, when rates on the 18-hole ticket only will be available on Monday, Tuesday and Fridays after 9 a.m. There will be no special rate on weekends and holidays.

Golfers must provide their own equipment, however, power carts, hand carts and a limited line of accessories are available at the Golf Starter Building. Power cart rates are $11 for 18 holes and $6.25 for nine holes (includes tax), with hand carts renting for 50 cents.

Food service also is available at the snack bar at the golf starter building, and there is space for 114 cars in the parking lot.

For additional information, persons should contact the golf course starter building at Kensington Metropark at 685-1408 (Milford exchange).

The 1979 vehicle entry permits — annual regular, $7, senior citizen, $2, or daily, $2 are required.

Know your law

Staggered license plates will eliminate lineup

(This is one in a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law on their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

By ATT. GEN.
FRANK KELLEY

Long lines and the last minute rush to get new license plates will be things of the past under the so-called "staggered" license plate program adopted by the Michigan Legislature in 1978.

The new "staggered" license plate program differs from the present system in one important aspect.

Instead of all license plates expiring on March 31, as they have for decades in Michigan and will do again this year, the plates will expire at staggered dates.

Instead of having to get a new license by March 31, drivers will have to get new plates by their respective birthdays—or face the consequences of being caught driving with expired plates.

The new "staggered" license plate program means more convenience for drivers and better productivity (and efficiency) on the part of the Secretary of State's office.

The staggered birthday expiration dates mean that drivers will be getting new plates on different dates throughout the year. Thus, the administrative burden of getting new plates will be spread out more evenly over the year instead of concentrated in the 30 days, or so, preceding the customary March 31 expiration date.

For drivers, this means the elimination of the long lines generally associated with getting new plates and more convenience.

For personnel at the branch offices of the Secretary of State, it means a more steady flow of business instead of overflow crowds in March, followed by sparse business.

The new system—which begins in 1980 and will be fully implemented a year later—does not eliminate the option of purchasing plates by mail.

All vehicle owners will receive prepared applications for their license plates 45 days before their deadline to buy. This should encourage the use of the mail for purchasing plates and provide greater accuracy in the central vehicle registration files.

The staggered license plate program is a step in the right direction for streamlining government and providing better service for taxpayers.

Health department hosts diabetes, parent classes

Diabetics and their families, as well as expectant parents, can sign up now for free classes being offered by the Wayne County Health Department.

Diabetics can learn about the condition of diabetes mellitus, its control and treatment and the relationship of diet in classes starting April 25 at the Wayne County Health Center and April 23 at the South Health Center in Taylor. The county health center class will be from 7 to 9 p.m. on five consecutive Wednesdays in Room 200. At the Taylor center the classes will be from 7 to 9 p.m. on five consecutive Mondays.

The importance of the diabetic's cooperation with his physician is stressed in the class along with the patient's responsibility in caring for himself in order to lead an active, normal life.

All diabetics, regardless of age, may attend with written approval of their physician. Children under 14 years should be accompanied by a parent.

To register for the classes contact the health department at 274-2800, or 729-2211, ext. 390.

Spring classes for expectant parents have been scheduled to begin April 24 at the South Health Center in Taylor, and April 25 at the County Health Department in Westland.

All classes will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. for six consecutive weeks.

Group discussion is used in each class, and under the leadership of a public health nurse, the group discusses questions and concerns about pregnancy, labor, delivery and infant care, which are of common interest to the group.

Since the size of the group is limited, interested couples should register as early as possible. For registration or further information contact the health department at 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 390.

The South Health Center is located at 21201 Eureka Road, Taylor, while the county health center is located on Merriman Road north of Michigan Avenue in Westland.

Law eases teens' quest

A state law which went into effect last year should make it easier for youths to find summer jobs, State Labor Director Pat Babcock said.

The Youth Employment Standards Act of 1977 which replaced the Hittle Juvenile Act of 1947 last year did away with many bureaucratic practices, which were a deterrent to youths finding jobs.

The law, for example, eliminated discriminatory standards between males and females, including a provision of the Hittle Act restricting employment of female minors in manufacturing establishments after 6 p.m.

Other changes included:

—Exempting high school graduates, those who have completed high school requirements and "emancipated" minors, including married youth and those in military service, from coverage under child labor laws.

—Strictly limiting grounds on which work permits, which are required for minors, may be revoked, and affording a minor the right of appeal, if a work permit is refused or revoked.

—Allowing minors to work on farms as long as no state or federal safety standards are being violated.

—Giving authority to issue work permits to local school officials. Previously, employers had to obtain occupational approval from the State Labor Department.

The Labor Department developed the law with the assistance of school officials, the State Youth Commission and the Governor's office.

The Youth Employment Standards Act retained a number of protections for youthful employees which were contained in the Hittle Act including prohibiting youths under 14 years of age from employment except in specific cases.

Also employers planning to hire minors no longer are required to get occupational approval numbers for routine nonhazardous work like baggers, stock clerks, and waiters or waitresses, Babcock said.

In prior years, employers wanting to employ minors had to start the application process several months before the job began. About 25,000 occupational approval numbers were issued last year.

Employers still are required to get occupational approval numbers from the department for hazardous occupations. Hazardous occupations generally include jobs that involve power-driven equipment or where toxic chemicals are used.

Minors 14 through 17 still must obtain a work permit from the local school authority in order to hold a job. The work permit authorizes minors to work in specific occupations for specific hours.

Work permits are not transferable. If a minor changes jobs a new permit is required for the new job.

To get a work permit a minor must have the prospective employer complete a form—offer of employment—which details the job including hours and wages. The minor then submits this with proof of age to the school.

Work permits are routinely granted but they insure that a minor is treated fairly and works reasonable hours.

Minors 14 and 15 are limited to a maximum 48 hours of combined school and work attendance. This is based on a 6-day week. During the summer youths must remember to take into account any summer school attendance.

For example, if a minor was in school seven hours a day five days a week he or she could work an additional one hour a day on weekdays and work a full 8-hour day on Saturday.

Youths, 14-15, can only work until 7 p.m. when school is in session and until 9 p.m. when school is recessed for summer vacation.

Minors 16-17 have the same 48 combined work-school limit, however, they can work until 10:30 p.m. when school is in session and 11:30 p.m. during summer vacation.

All minors can work and attend school no more than an average of eight hours a day and absolutely no more than 10 actual hours a day.

Employers wanting to receive approval for minors to work hours other than those provided by the law, or in occupations declared to be hazardous by the department, must apply to the Wage Hour Division, Department of Labor.

Deviation from standards or hours can be granted when it is in the best interest of the minor, Babcock said.

Protect your dog

If you have a dog in the family, it's the time of year to fear for its heart—and for its very life.

The mosquito is now a dog's greatest enemy because it carries dread Canine Heartworm Disease, a potentially fatal illness that threatens the entire dog population of Michigan, according to specialists of the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association.

In 1978, 3,093 cases of heartworm were reported in Michigan, with 1,339 cases in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties.

Once thought to be confined to warm, humid areas of the United States, the disease has extended into northern climes so rapidly that today it is reaching near-epidemic proportions in Michigan and environs.

The southeastern Michigan veterinarians—and others in the state—are attempting to reach all dog owners to warn them of this mortal danger to their pets. They are urging widespread use of preventative medication to stop the spread of the disease. The medication is used daily in the dog's diet plan.

Heartworm Disease is caused by an eight-12 inch worm that actually lives in the chambers and vessels of the dog's heart. It is transmitted from dog to dog by the bite of a mosquito—thus even the house-bound pet is likely to be exposed. The cycle of development between exposure and the onset of symptoms may take six to nine months.

In the earliest stages, the affected dog does not show many signs of illness, but as the disease progresses, signs of heart failure (deep cough, labored breathing, progressive weakness) become apparent. Often these symptoms are not noticed by the dog

On Inkster's 4th senior complex

Groundbreaking marks start of construction

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Some 35 people turned out in a pouring rain last week for the ceremonial groundbreaking for Cherry Hill Plaza Apartments at Cherry Hill and Middlebelt.

Mayor Terrel LeCesne, four councilmen and various representatives of Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA), the owners and contractor joined city department heads and several others in turning the first shovel of wet dirt for the $7-million apartment complex.

Standing on a wooden platform under an open-sided tent, the group listened to the brief remarks while a heavy spring rain pelted the canvas top with a steady downpour.

However, the heavy rains failed to dampen the spirits of the individuals who gathered for the ceremonial kick-off of the 186-unit project which will provide housing for senior citizens and low and moderate-income families.

Horace Rodgers, one of five partners comprising Cherry Hill Limited Dividend Housing Association, developers of the project, greeted the people and introduced those present.

"We appreciate the participation of the federal government in offering assistance through subsidies on this project," Rodgers said in opening remarks. "We also recognize the city council's part in providing the proper zoning. A substantial portion of taxes have been abated for the elderly, and we commend their far-sighted view in helping provide senior citizens with housing."

Rodgers first introduced Mayor LeCesne.

"I agree with Mr. Rodgers, we did cooperate wholeheartedly with all concerned to get this project built," LeCesne began. "We have a visionary council and I commend them on their open-mindedness in offering housing of all kinds to people of all types."

"This is the fourth senior citizen housing development in Inkster and I know some nearby cities who are still trying to get their first senior citizens housing."

LeCesne noted the fact that the citizens of Inkster have been unusually receptive to "this type of development with its tax abatement."

"We have received little or no opposition from the community to this development, while many surrounding communities have not had that far-sightedness," he said.

The mayor concluded by saying: "But it's only typical of Inkster citizens in this city who realize the need for housing of this type."

LeCesne then introduced the city officials. On hand for the occasion were Councilmen Joseph Davis, Jr., Pat O'Neil, Bill Daniels and Willie Johnson, City Clerk Betty Miller, Treasurer Bruce Cook, City Manager Wylie L. Williams and Fire Marshall Bob Shepard.

Representing MSHDA was Bella I. Marshall, director of the Detroit field office. Glenn Johnson, president of Smith and Andrews Construction Co., also spoke briefly.

The $7-million development on 7.4 acres on the southwest corner of Middlebelt and Cherry Hill intersection is scheduled to be finished next summer.

Start of something big

City officials and developers of Cherry Hill Place Apartments broke soggy ground Thursday afternoon in a ceremonial gesture to celebrate the start of a $7-million apartment complex at Cherry Hill and Middlebelt. The project is being financed by a loan from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority and will include housing for senior citizens and low- and moderate-income families. The 7.4 acre complex will consist of a 150-unit, 7-story mid-rise building for senior citizens and 36 townhouse units for families meeting certain limited income requirements. A pouring rain did not dampen the spirits of the shovel-wielders, who used their hard-hats for rain hats as well. Manning the spades are Glenn Johnson, (from left), contractor, Councilman Joseph Davis Jr., Mayor-Pro-Tem William Daniels, Horace J. owner until the stage when successful treatment is difficult to achieve.

Diagnosis of the disease is through a blood test performed by a veterinarian. The test is the only way to detect the disease in its early stages. If the test is positive, a complicated and costly program to destroy the heartworm must be begun. The drugs used by the veterinarian to treat the infection are toxic to the dog as well as to the parasites—thus must be used with great caution.

Preventing the disease is far superior to treatment. Medication is available which, when given daily, is effective in preventing the disease.

"Keeping the dog away from mosquitos is almost impossible in Michigan," said Dr. Mary Beth Leininger of Plymouth.

IS THERE HELP FOR PARENTS WHOSE CHILD IS TERMINALLY ILL?

The imminent death of a child due to a terminal illness is an agonizing situation for parents. It was out of a similar life-experience that an organization called "Carelighters" was founded.

Lore & Paul Prager founded Carelighters after their youngest son, Kevin, suffered for two years with terminal cancer. The purpose of the organization is to help other parents who have heard the sentence of death pronounced for a child.

Carelighters currently operates out of Ingalls Memorial Hospital in Harvey, Illinois. The parents operate a 24-hour hotline (312-798-1020) for parents to call for any kind of help. They also meet monthly to share feelings and offer each other support.

If you have any such concerns, we invite your inquiry in person or by phone.

First black DAR member to teach genealogical classes for WCCC

Karen Batchelor Farmer, the first black woman admitted to membership in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), after she traced one of her family lines to a Revolutionary War soldier, will teach the techniques of family research this spring at Wayne County Community College.

The course, Genealogy: Tracing Family History, will be offered through the Community Services-Continuing Education Department at two locations. In Detroit, the class will be at Friends School, 1100 St. Aubin off Lafayette, beginning May 8 from 6-9 p.m. A class also will be held in Western Wayne County at the college's Milton Center, 1771 Henry Ruff Road, Inkster. That class will meet on Thursday evenings from 7-9:30 p.m., beginning May 10. The 8-week class carries one credit and the total cost of the course is $19.

Participants in the course will learn how to find the clues, follow the leads, research official documents and record the story of their family.

Ms. Farmer began genealogical research on her family in 1976. Since her admittance to membership in the DAR, she has traced other family lines to two other ancestors who fought in the Revolutionary War.

Her accomplishments as a genealogist and family historian have led to interviews by major newspapers and appearances on local and national television programs such as ABC's "Good Morning America."

Ms. Farmer has had numerous speaking engagements across the country. She addressed the Diamond Jubilee Convention of the National Genealogical Society last year in Washington, D.C., and also has appeared before the Erie Society for Genealogical Research in Erie, Pa.

Local speaking engagements have included Plymouth Congregational Church, Marygrove College and Oakland University. She has been appointed director of the Geraldine Crosby Center for Black Genealogical and Family Research at Detroit's Afro-American Museum.

In addition to the DAR, Ms. Farmer is a member of the Erie (Pa.) Society for Genealogical Research and the National Genealogical Society.

Persons interested in enrolling in Genealogy: Tracing Family History may do so in person at offices of the Community Services-Continuing Education Department of WCC, 4612 Woodward Avenue, during business hours. Special pre-registration will take place at five regional locations in Wayne County April 26-28. Persons also may enroll at the first class meeting.

Special pre-registration times at Park Center are April 26 2-7 p.m., April 27, 2-5 p.m. and April 28, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Registration times at the Milton Center in Inkster are the same, with the exception of April 28.

Rep. Ford outlines plans for expanded college aid

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District), chairman of the House of Representatives' Subcommittee on Education, has outlined his plans to require the Office of Education to provide more grant assistance to independent college students under the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program.

Independent college students must meet several rigorous tests to prove that they are not able to rely on their families for support.

In a statement to the House, he stressed that independent students generally are not typical 18- to 22-year-old college students but are displaced homemakers, veterans and other adult learners striving to improve their condition through education.

Congressman Ford chided the Office of Management and Budget for deciding to continue "grossly inequitable treatment" of these students by not allowing implementation of more liberal grant awards, mandated by the Middle Income Student Assistance Act, authored by the Michigan Congressman last year.

Using a procedure, which permits Congress to disapprove education regulations that are inconsistent with the law, he has introduced legislation to disapprove the Administration's regulation governing awards under the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program, because it is contrary to the law with respect to independent students.

Congressman Ford has called a hearing by the Subcommittee on Postsecondary Education to consider his resolution of disapproval. Witnesses may include officials from the Office of Management and Budget and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, students, student aid administrators and the American Council on Education.

Energy credit still available for seniors

"It's still not too late for senior citizens, burdened by the high cost of energy, to apply for a home heating tax credit," said Office of Services to the Aging Director Elizabeth J. Ferguson.

Persons 65 years of age or older who qualify have until April 16 to file for the credit. Application for the rebate is on the same form as that used to claim a refund of local property taxes. The credit is provided through the 1978 Michigan Home Heating Assistance Program, currently administered by the Michigan Department of Treasury.

According to Treasury Department officials, it appears that many eligible senior citizens are not participating in the program because they are confused about how to apply for the rebate. The confusion apparently stems from the fact that the program does not operate the same way as it did last year when it was administered by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

A major improvement is the way in which home heating credit is being handled under the new program. No longer is the amount of relief being paid to the utility company. Rather, those home owners and renters who qualify, are receiving a refund check directly from the Department of Treasury.

"High energy costs usually are a severe burden to senior citizens who are oftentimes faced with very limited incomes," Ms. Ferguson said. The home heating assistance program was devised to assist low income families and senior citizens.

"Therefore, we encourage all who think they might qualify for the home heating credit, to investigate their eligibility before it is too late."

The amount of heating assistance payment is determined by a formula relating to the applicant's household income and the number of exemptions. Assistance is available to persons with household incomes of no more than $10,565 a year and liquid financial assets of no more than $30,000. Senior citizens age 65 and older need not count the proceeds of the sale of a home liquid asset, if the home was sold within the last two years. Citizens can receive help in determining their eligibility for a home heating credit and in the preparation of the forms at any Department of Treasury Office.

Applications for the home heating tax credit are available from the Department of Treasury and the state's 13 Area Agencies on Aging. Persons who already have filed their income tax returns, but failed to file for the home heating tax credit, can file amended returns. For more information contact the Treasury Department.

Seniors must report income

Area residents who have received one or more monthly Social Security checks during 1978 and earned more than the annual exempt amount must submit an report of their earnings to Social Security by not later than Monday, April 16.

The report should show how much was earned in wages and self-employment income last year by people who got monthly Social Security payments, as well as how much they expect to earn this year. The report is used to determine if people were apid the correct amount of Social Security benefits for 1978. It also is used to adjust their monthly 1979 Social Security payments according to their estimated earnings.

Beneficiaries under age 65 could get their full Social Security payments in 1978, if they earned $3,240 or less for the year. Beneficiaries age 65 to 72 could get their full benefits in 1978, if they earned $4,000 or less.

Beneficiaries under age 72 who earn more than the annual exempt amount lose some of their total benefits for the year. Their benefit amount is reduced by $1 for every $2 they earn over the exempt amount. (Beneficiaries 72 or older get their full benefits regardless of their earnings.)

In 1979, full social security benefits can be paid to eligible people age 65 to 72, if they earn $4,500 or less for the year. For people under age 65, the 1979 limit is $3,480.

People who were 72 or older during all of 1978 are not required to file an annual report of their earnings.

Agency on Aging checks homechore grant

"Yes, it is possible the Plymouth YMCA could lose its grant when we're through investigating them. We've taken grants away before, when we've had troubles with mismanagement," said Fred Ferris, director of Wayne County's Area Agency on Aging (AAA).

The AAA is investigating the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA's handling of their 1978-79 $21,000 federal grant intended to provide seniors in Canton, Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township with free home cleaning assistance.

In recent weeks Associated Newspapers learned that Janet Luce, coordinator of the YMCA administered homechore service program, has used more than half of the total grant towards administrative salaries.

The service was only provided to Canton residents living north of Ford Road, while more than 50 percent of Canton's senior population resides south of Ford Road.

Population figures used by Mrs. Luce have been disputed by Social Security and community officials. Canton officials began questioning the basis for distribution of the service when they learned that 71 percent of services are provided to Plymouth seniors, with less than 6 percent provided at Canton residents.

Mrs. Luce has not provided files documenting when and how often services are rendered. Homechore workers charged seniors, Mrs. Luce has admitted, even though grant money is made available to the "Y".

"We're glad these problems have been called to our attention," Ferris said. "Our objective is to make sure that money is going to actual services, not salaries."

But Ferris noted that unless it is proven that the YMCA is "absolutely" incapable of managing the program, the grant will most likely remain with Mrs. Luce for the entire 12-month time period.

"We don't usually like to break a contract unless we find a tremendous problem. We like to try and correct things, if we can."

Ferris, however, could not salvage the homechore service administered by the Latino Mental Health Task Force in Detroit during the 1977-78 grant year.

In the case of the Latino group the grant was revoked due to the group's failure to provide services to clients reportedly served, and services that weren't available were reportedly being offered.

Terry Carroll, Canton's grant coordinator, was not satisfied with the AA being the only investigative agent of the YMCA's use of tax dollars.

"I think the state (Office of Aging) should be investigating the AAA, since AAA was to have been properly monitoring the local administrator (Janet Luce) all this time," said Carroll.

He said AAA investigating one of its own local administrators was like letting "the fox guard the chicken coop."

Jackie Borden, public information officer for the State Office of Aging, said the state did not have the authority to investigate yet.

She said if Canton officials were not satisfied with the AAA's investigation they could appeal their case to the 15-member policy board.

Carroll also believes Mrs. Luce was in violation of federal regulations when she mixed federal dollars with local community contributions.

Because her administrative costs exceeded the permitted allowance of federal rules, Mrs. Luce used community donations to offset expenses, consequently salvaging the Y's eligibility for the grant.

"I don't know if it's a classic case of co-mingling money, but it sure comes close," Carroll said.

Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert is concerned that Ferris's investigation may drag on until it's time for re-distribution of federal dollars.

"I tend to think it will drag on like most investigations by bureaucrats," Culbert said. "So my plan is to apply for a separate grant next year for just for Canton."

Canton, however, since it has been a community recipient through the YMCA for nearly three years may not qualify for a separate grant next year.

The current policy of federal officials is for grants to be rotated every three years, making distribution broader.

Federal officials still are in the process of revising their senior citizen grant rules and regulations, and a decision on the status of that specific policy is expected in May.

Grant applications will be available in June.

"We'd better qualify, because for three years we haven't received hardly anything. Technically, we were a recipient, but practically speaking, we spent three years getting shafted," Culbert said.

Culbert submitted written testimony to a special congressional hearing, entitled "Local Administrators of Federal Grants, and Their Abuse of Federal Dollars," held Tuesday in Washington, D.C.

"I sent a statement regarding the alleged money abuse by Mrs. Luce," Culbert said. "Apparently from talking with federal officials, mismanagement is more common than we think."

Ferris could not provide the Eagle with an estimate on how long his investigation will take.

Special committee appointed To study charter concept of county reorganization

Paul G. Citkowski, chairman of the General Government Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has appointed a special subcommittee to study the county charter concept for reorganizing the county administrative structure and judicial system.

Members of the subcommittee are Arthur M. Carter from Detroit, chairman; Ervin A. Steiner Jr., Grosse Pointe; and Clemens E. Bykowski and John J. Komey, both also of Detroit.

Citkowski appointed the committee after a public hearing, March 20, on a Gov. Milliken proposal offered in return for possible financial aid to the county in its present budget crisis.

Under the Milliken plan, the state would fund the election and operation of a 27-member Charter Commission which would write a "home rule" charter for consideration by the voters.

"We are not considering the reorganization just because of the state's 'carrot-stick' approach," Citkowski said. "We are in a financial mess and have needed some changes for a long time."

Carter was named chairman in part because he is co-sponsor of a resolution endorsing the concept of a Charter Commission, which was approved by the board last month.

Part of the job of the subcommittee, according to Carter, will be to urge the Board of Commissioners' support of the amendments to the "Home Rule" bill in the State Legislature which provide for the establishment of charter counties and the election of Charter Commissioners, who cannot be county officials or county employees.

The committee hopes to get some citizen input by holding public hearings on both the executive and judicial reorganization which should start within the next two weeks, he said.

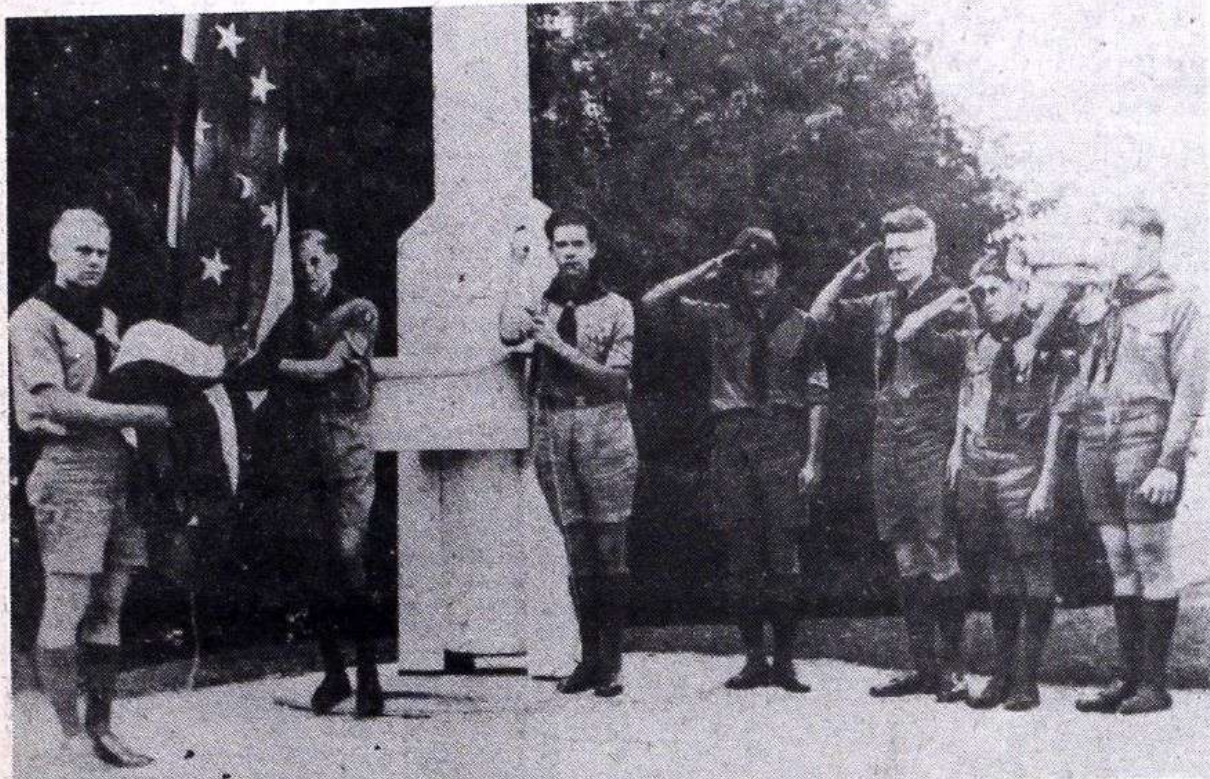

"Redefining the powers and duties of an administration the size of Wayne County's will be an enormous undertaking," Citkowski added. "We want the public to be educated concerning it."

For instance, he explained, the Charter Commission cannot eliminate any constitutionally mandated office, such as Sheriff, Register of Deeds, County Clerk, Treasurer, or Prosecutor. But it could abolish the Board of Auditors, Road Commission, Public Works Department and Civil Service Commission, re-organizing them under the jurisdiction of the Board of Commissioners.

The Charter Commission also could consider changing the court system by combining some courts and changing the jurisdiction of others.

The Board of Commissioners could decide as early as June whether or not to place the Charter Commission proposal before the voters in a special election in August.

If the proposal is passed the Charter could be ready for submission to the voters in another special election in June 1980.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Eagle Scout Honor Guard, serving at Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island, and on Aug. 10-12 old honor guardsmen will be gathering at the island's Grand Hotel to recall the honor of being a part of that tradition. The First Eagle Scout Honor Guard include a future U.S. President, Gerald Ford (far left), when it left from Detroit for the island aboard the steamer, the Western States, on Aug. 1, 1929. It also includes two Wayneites. The Mackinac Island State Park Commission is trying to let the honor guardsmen know of the reunion, but is having some difficulty. One of those it cannot locate is David Hodges of Wayne (third from left). A current address of other information on the wayward ex-Scout can be sent to the Mackinac Island Eagle Scout Honor Guardsmen, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing 48909.

Editorial opinions

Lawmakers vote to ignore a citizen mandate

For the past few weeks, our elected representatives have been engaged in the struggle to implement provisions of the voter approved Headlee Tax Limitation proposal.

Struggle?

Apparently.

It seems, now that the voters have expressed their wishes to see tax limitation a part of Michigan's constitution, some elected officials are working diligently to get around that citizen mandate.

Last week, the Michigan House voted on implementing one aspect of the Headlee proposal, the Millage Roll-back provision.

Under the Headlee proposal which voters approved, it was thought that provision meant that any time taxes rose by an amount higher than the General Price Level (now pegged at 7.7 percent), property tax bills would be reduced to match that level.

While language in the proposal is considerably more complex than that, the plan was presented to voters as containing just such a provision.

Well it seems that government can always manage to circumvent the will of the people. And to that end, Michigan lawmakers called for a Semantic Analysis of the So Called Roll-Back.

This analysis, not suprisingly, proved that what voters supported last November, is not what they thought they were supporting.

The roll-back provision of Headlee's proposal was designed to protect home owners from property tax increases which rose faster than inflation.

Essentially what Headlee said was: Should your tax bill rise more than last year's inflation rate, local assessors would have to roll back your millage rate, thereby reducing your taxes, to the level of inflation.

But that is not the way some of our lawmakers decided to implement the provision.

What they decided Headlee really meant was that a home owner could only benefit from a roll-back if the local district was already assessing at the maximum allowable state rate of 18 mills.

Therefore, if your community was not assessing 18 mills, and few are, no roll-back of any tax bills would be granted.

Since most communities in this area have charter limitations on the millage rate that can be levied (most at 10 mills), it would not be possible for any taxpayer of any of these communities to benefit from the roll-back provision.

While that legislative action is not surprising, the vote of two area elected officials is.

Representative Garry Owen voted in favor of the legislature's move to circumvent the will of the people, and in fact consistently resisted any attempt by some of his colleagues to implement Headlee as the voters perceived it.

Along with Owen, Rep. William Keith of Inkster voted to support this legislative citizen affront.

We at Associated Newspapers are disappointed by the vote of Owen and Keith. They have set the stage for yet another citizen campaign to force the legislature to become responsive.

We are pleased with the vote of Rep. Thomas Brown, Rep. Edward Mahalak, and Rep. Robert Law. We appreciate their efforts to promote truly representative government.

SEMTA's in town—Residents gain long-sought buses

For the non-believers among us, the inaugural SEMTA bus service last Friday, must certainly come as some surprise.

For several years, residents of this area have pleaded for some form of bus service which would connect them to the shopping centers to the north, neighbors to the west, and Detroit to the east.

The pleading fell on deaf ears. Or so it seemed.

But at long-last, area residents will be provided the beginnings of a truly comprehensive transit system which will provide the old and young alike with an alternative to the family car, if indeed there is, a family car.

We again applaud the efforts of those local officials who have finally managed to secure SEMTA service for area residents.

Among them are Rep. Edward Mahalak, Romulus Mayor William Oakley, and Senator William Faust.

While still too little and considerably too late, this service is at last a beginning.

Editor's Log

Extremists make me nervous

Extremists make me nervous.

But then again, almost anyone who has one set of rules for dealing with others and another set for themselves, should probably make all of us nervous.

While anti-nuclear folk and hundreds of new members of that group, recruited during the recent Three Mile Island reactor accident, parade the streets of our communities, airplanes were falling from the skies, storms were killing and wounding hundreds, and thousands were being evacuated from the area of toxic gas leaks.

But is there a move to ban commercial aviation? Is there any organized protest against the weather? And has any group organized to protest against the railroads?

Of course not!

But what happened following those events, is the beginning of new efforts to further improve airline safety, attempts to establish early warning systems to forecast dangerous storms, and the implementation of new improved railroad components which reduce inherent risk.

Compare those situations with the problems facing the nuclear power industry following an accident which claimed no lives at Three Mile Island.

Already, politicians are flocking to a cause headed by the likes of Jane Fonda. A cause which could effectively mislead the public into believing that nuclear energy is 'unsafe at any Roentgen.'

While we must excuse the politicians their quest for new campaign issues like we must also excuse the anti-nuclear folk for their attention getting protests, we cannot excuse the press for its distorted and sensationalized reporting of the Three Mile Island accident.

It is probably far too early to access the lasting damaging done to either the Three Mile Island reactor or our country's nuclear power industry as a result of poor reporting. But there is little doubt that the final cost will be high.

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

Perhaps it could be argued that the only thing lost at Three Mile Island was the risk of an even worse disaster had the cooling system not failed when it did.

It could also be argued that the potential for wide-spread destruction which nuclear power reactors may present, warrants extreme precautions. But regardless, in order to establish in our minds the real risk associated with any endeavor, most of us rely on others for the necessary information. Often it is the press exclusively which provides that information. It should be accurate.

Two weeks ago, it was hundreds of newsmen at Harrisburg protesting nuclear power. This week it is hundreds of protestors there, ready to bury Three Mile Island and the use of any nuclear energy in this country, along with it.

Yes, extremists make me nervous. Whether they are members of the news media or not.

House bill to ease transplants

By WILLIAM KEITH
State Representative
33rd District

The Michigan Eye Bank's offer of sight to the blind and near-blind does not come easy. There is a very high rate of success in cornea transplant operations, but far too few corneas.

The donor system produces only about 300 corneas a year, far below demand. There are, at any one time, between 30 and 40 people waiting for transplants.

The operation involves replacing the "clear window" at the very front of the eye. This small part of the eye is removed from donors within a few hours after death and must be transplanted as soon afterwards as possible. Otherwise, the cornea tissue is of no value.

A bill recently approved by the house offers fresh hope for the eye bank and those who can have their sight restored by transplants.

It would allow a county medical examiner to remove or authorize removal of corneal tissue during the course of a routine autopsy, provided there is no objection by the next of kin.

There has been a great amount of support for the bill, which passed the house by a unanimous vote.

It would relieve the continuous shortage in the Michigan Eye Bank. That shortage is so serious that in some emergency cases, in order to preserve a person's eyesight, corneal tissue must be obtained from other states.

Five other states have passed similar legislation: Maryland, Florida, Washington, Louisiana and Texas.

Not only have they helped to solve similar shortages, but often the corneas are from young persons who died violently. (Cornea tissue from young persons is preferred because it lasts longer. Generally, the older the cornea, the sooner it wears out.)

In one of the states, Maryland, some 1,000 corneal tissues have been removed per year since its law was enacted in 1975. This compares with the 300 in Michigan, which is a much more populous state with a much heavier demand for transplants.

Further, the average age of corneal tissue available for transplants in Maryland is 35 years, compared to 55 years in Michigan.

According to an eye bank spokesman in Maryland, there have been no complaints about the procedure.

Medical examiners have wide-ranging authority now to conduct autopsies in cases where death was violent or suspicious, regardless of the objections of relatives. It is impractical with the time element involved in cornea removals to expect medical examiners to seek out the next of kin to obtain authorization. The bill passed by the house would prohibit removals which alter the post-mortem appearance of the deceased, which is very unlikely.

The bill does not require a medical examiner to do anything. It simply permits a medical examiner to remove or authorize removal of corneal tissue during a routine autopsy. The bill protects against civil action persons authorized by a medical examiner to remove the corneas.

As approved by the house, the bill would expire at the end of 1982. If, as expected, it proves successful, the practice would likely be continued by new law.

The bill is supported by the Michigan Department of Public Health, the Michigan Eye Bank, the Michigan State Medical Society, the Michigan Hospital Association, the Michigan Ophthalmological Society, the Chairman of the Departments of Ophthalmology at the University of Michigan, Wayne State University and Michigan State University and the Medical Examiners of Wayne and Oakland counties.

With that much support, plus the unanimous approval by the house, it is expected that the senate will also act favorably on the bill.

Keep 'jigging,' Deidre

EDITOR:

Relative to your news story on page 3 in the March 21st issue of the Belleville Enterprise, please find attached a check made out to Deidre Sanders of Belleville, the National Irish Step Dancing Champion.

The check may be small and a little late to help Deidre's ambition to compete this year in world competition in Dublin, Ireland, on April 9, 1979, but it may give her encouragement to continue in the tradition rooted intricate Irish Step Dancing.

Irish Step Dancing is a very specialized type of dancing requiring stamina, breath control, determination, practice, practice, practice and more practicing, more determination, but most of all a love of Irish "jigging."

It is an almost lost art of Irish Folklore. Maybe Deidre can help revive it.

We are proud of our Irish heritage (roots) as all ethnic Americans should be proud of theirs. Hopefully other local Irish Americans (first, second, third, fourth, etc. generations) will be proud of their "roots" and follow our lead and contribute encouragement and financial backing (no matter how little or much) to encourage Deidre in her Irish Step Dancing endeavor.

If she doesn't win the World First Place this year we hope she will try again next year. 'If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.'

It would be admirable of the Belleville Enterprise to encourage the residents of the Belleville area to sponsor this worthwhile cause.

You could call it "Bring An International Win To Belleville." It would be a "feather in the caps" of local personages if they all worked to help Deidre accomplish this. If not with financial assistance then with verbal and written encouragement.

Locals could organize — go door-to-door, money canisters in stores, hold cake sales, etc. to raise the funds to bring International fame to Belleville.

Good luck Deidre and keep on jigging. The "luck of the Irish" is with you.

Greets SEMTA's arrival

EDITOR:

It was with great pleasure, I read in the paper that SEMTA, is finally coming to Belleville; Van Buren Twp. and Sumpter Twp. It will be a great help to the elderly and handicapped residents, of the community involved.

But what of those who need bus service, who are not elderly or handicapped? What do they do for transportation? We have a number of people who for some reason or another need this bus service too.

When the Belleville-Romulus FISH chapter was forced to cease operating in the community, dozens of people were left stranded without transportation. It was not only the elderly and handicapped that FISH helped; there was a number of young people, with and without children, requiring rides to the hospital, clinics, Welfare office, etal. The need for public transportation for all the people still remains . . .

Many people stated "If I only had transportation, I could get a job and/or I would not have to call FISH if there was a bus I could take." The job is only half done, we need a full PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION For all the PEOPLE of these communities.

Reflections

Her mark on the world

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

When I was a little girl, Easter Sunday was always sunny and warm and spoke lovingly of the resurrection in the brilliant sunlight, the melody of color in the spring flowers, and the tiny, lacy leaves upon the trees.

And always there was the white organdy dress, with the huge pale blue sash (pink for my little sister, the long white stockings and the Mary Jane's).

My little sister, who was fifteen months younger than I, was always dressed first, which took a bit of doing, for, from the minute she was born she had never been still for more than a second or two. She was four years old that Easter Sunday in 1923 when she made the day memorable and tucked it away in our memories forevermore. "Ooooooh," she whispered as the organdy dress slid down over head and the starch ruffles touched her tiny neck. "Ooooooh." "Ooooooh," she whispered as the huge pink sash was tied and she ran her fingers over the silkiness of the ribbon around her waist.

She stood there, a breath of exquisite four-year-old loveliness in the white, white dress, with the pink sash and the pink ribbons in her long reddish brown curls. Her huge brown eyes couldn't be lifted from the reflection of herself in the doormirror, and she patted at her bouncy skirt and whispered, "Bootiful."

From my vantage year I watched her, wishing that just once, just once, God would answer the prayer I prayed for every night, and give me long curls; but as my mother said, he probably had just run out of curls in heaven and it might be a while. My father said, "Just be glad you have hair," and rubbed his own balding head.

My sister and I had been carefully dressed and fussed over that morning because we were both going to be participants in the Easter Sunday program. I had a poem to read and my sister had a song to sing. We were the stars. The other children gathered behind us on the platform and raised their voices in song whenever the organist raised her finger from the keyboard and signaled them over her eye glasses.

The church was filled with proud parents.

I gave my poem. I gave it everything I had in my five year old heart and I knew I was good, for even my father smiled and nodded his head.

And then it was my little sister's turn. Staunchly she marched to the front of the stage... the little pink and white vision with the bouncy curls.

The organ trilled the opening notes. My little sister clasped her hands in front of her, and like an angel sang,

"On a hill far away stood an old rugged cross,"

A look of pain crossed her face and she turned her head around and hissed at me behind her, "I have to go to the bathroom..."

"Sing..." I hissed back.

"The emblem of suffering and shame..."

Swiveling her head again came her desperate little voice, "I gotta go to the bathroom..."

"Sing..." I whispered back.

"So I'll cherish the old rugged cross, till my trophies at last I lay down..."

Around came her head. "I gotta GO to the bathroom..."

"Sing..." I was growing desperate.

"I will cling to the old rugged cross..."

And then it happened. She HAD to go. The audience held its breath and my little sister looked down in wonderment. My face grew hot, and all of the little kids on the stage caught their giggles in their throat with one evil look from the organist.

After an interminable pause my little sister's voice trilled out over the audience.

"And exchange it some day for a crown!"

She bowed and took her place in the line behind her, leaving a little puddle to show where she had been.

On the Brighter Side

'Most wonderful day'

By JIM BRADLEY

Spring is my favorite time of the year. The flowers, trees and buds, which have been dormant all winter, spring into new life. And the earth, like a sleeping giant aroused from sleep, shakes itself in the warming rays of the sun.

Similarly, Easter is the most wonderful day for me—and for many people. The joy and hope of the Christian faith is built on the glorious resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

There are many irrefutable proofs of His bodily resurrection from the tomb, which need not be rehearsed here. But because Christ arose from the grave—victor over death, sin, hell and the grave—all true believers will one day discard their robes of flesh and rise to be with Him.

This Sunday we celebrate that glorious event. And what better time than in the spring of the year when God breathes new life into His creation and with great strokes of an artist's brush illuminates all of nature in breath-taking color.

The Angel of the Lord told the two inquiring women at the tomb, "Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said." (Matthew 28:5, 6).

"He is risen, as he said." What glorious words! What victorious words!

Martin Luther wrote:

In the bonds of Death He lay
Who for our defense was slain;
But the Lord is risen today.
Christ hath brought us life again,
Wherefore let us all rejoice,
Singing loud, with cheerful voice,
Hallelujah!

The gospel, in a nutshell, is the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ. I Corinthians, chapter 15, states: "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures."

The great Methodist hymn writer, Charles Wesley, penned:

Christ the Lord is risen today,
Sons of men and angels say;
Raise your joys and triumphs high,
Sing, ye heavens, and earth reply.
Lives again our glorious King:
Where, O Death, is now thy sting?
Once He died, our souls to save:
Where thy victory, O grave?

Some people doubt that Christ bodily rose from the grave, saying he merely "swooned", or passed out, or that it was a spiritual resurrection. Jesus said in Revelation 1:18, "I am he that liveth, and was DEAD."

Henry H. Barstow poetically discards all doubt of Christ's resurrection with these words:

If Easter be not true—
But it is true, and Christ is risen!
and mortal spirit from its prison
Of sin and death with him may rise!
Worthwhile the struggle, sure the prize,
Since Easter, aye, is true!

I hope this Easter Sunday is the most wonderful day of the year for you and your loved ones.

To share my joy of spring with you, I have written the following tribute, entitled, "Sweet Symphony of Spring."

Hasten quickly sweet Spring, borne on gentle wings of wind, warmly rush to greet us and dispel the deadly chill of winter. March in, sweet Spring, to the soft melody of chirping birds and budding trees. Thou of ancient age, who dost perennially return, clothe nature in golden dress and decorate the barren vale. Turn icy brooks to babbling, churning melodies of awakened streams, Winter's remnants sail away, 'Til all remains is memory.

Turn brown lawns to colorful green with thy sunlit fingertips and raindrops from thy heavenly hand. As a symphony of Spring, sweetly enter and conquer dying Winter's final trust. Shine brightly arc of light! Burn away the fading chill! Then let the trumpets of chirping insects, trilling birds and sighing winds herald thy coming sweet princess of Joy!

Government shifts inflation's cause

By RICHARD L. LESHER, President
Chamber of Commerce
Of the United States

Isn't it interesting, as reports show inflation continuing to get worse, how those in government always find a way to blame the problem on someone else?

In recent weeks, the Administration has been doing precisely that—looking somewhere, anywhere, else for the cause and solution to a problem which was essentially created in its own back yard.

More and more, inflation is being blamed on greedy businesses and selfish workers. For its part, the Administration simply says that government alone cannot stop inflation. Oh really?

When the Administration recently criticized corporate profits for the end of 1977, it blatantly ignored the normal adjustments for inflated inventories, inadequate capital consumption allowances and a huge 20 percent increase in federal corporate taxes which were routinely provided by the Department of Commerce and which must be included if the profits picture is to be accurate.

When these adjustments are made, the figures show that from the fourth quarter of 1977 to the fourth quarter of 1978, profits per unit of output increased a small 2.7 percent in contrast to an overall inflation rate of 7.5 percent. And the key point is this: During that same period, the increase in workers' wages was three times greater than the increase in profits, and the increase in federal taxes was eight times greater.

The Administration has an obligation to clear up this inaccurate information. Why has it failed to do so?

Look at the facts over a longer period. If government's influence has been so inconsequential, then during the last 10 years, why have federal taxes increased more than one and a half times as fast as workers' wages, and nearly two and a half times as fast as corporate profits?

Who's been taking money from whom? If business has truly been so robust and profitable, how in the world could the stock market today be lower than it was 10 years ago?

This whole problem of finding scapegoats for inflation has been going on for years.

During the 1970's, for example, many of Washington's so-called experts have also blamed inflation on: The OPEC cartel; reduced meat supplies, and bad weather, which reduced other food supplies.

No one should deny that OPEC's monopolistic pricing is a tremendous economic burden which is contributing to inflation. But if the cartel has caused inflation, then how can Switzerland and West Germany be enjoying two of the lowest rates of inflation in the world, while they are simultaneously importing a far greater share of their total energy needs from OPEC than the United States?

Nor is inflation caused by temporary scarcities of commodities, some of which are weather-induced.

If not manipulated by governments, markets can correct these imbalances. And weather problems have existed before—for example, the dust bowl days in the 30's. Yet we did not have inflation then, but we do now in a period of record crops. How curious.

Let's stop kidding ourselves.

The major driving force behind our recent increase in inflation has been the explosive growth of government.

Since the mid-60's, by indulging in a binge of deficit financing, and printing money more than twice as fast as the economy could produce new goods and services, the federal government has become the biggest spender, borrower and employer in the economy.

That's inflation.

The results of this spend now-pay later philosophy are dramatic. Low inflation once permitted Americans to save a good portion of their earnings—earnings generated incidentally, by healthy profits! The investment capital from these savings created tremendous resources in the form of more efficient tools of production, resulting in technological leadership, and in a rapid and sustained increase in our standard of living.

That's why profits don't create inflation, they help fight it.

Today, inflation makes it more difficult to save. And seeing the dollar's value depreciate so rapidly, Americans are less willing to save. We are becoming a nation of super-consumption, living from paycheck to paycheck, and dependent upon more and more credit to maintain the same standard of living.

Result? Last year, the United States has the second worst rate of investment of any western industrialized country, and fewer patents were issued than in any year since 1964. Those are warnings of more inflation.

But big government also fuels inflation by pushing up costs and imposing needless regulations.

Government itself is the most burdensome cost of all.

Taxes have shot up more than one and a half times as fast as the Consumer Price Index during the past 10 years. And buried in the price of everything consumers buy, from hamburgers to single-family homes, is the rising cost of government, taken out in taxes on every part of a product's cost, production and distribution. But since these taxes are usually invisible, business bears the blame for higher prices.

Team boasts top wrestlers in state

All-Area is tough to beat

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Confidence, coaches say, comes from experience. And experience gives a young athlete confidence. When you can gather together a talented young squad loaded with experience, you have a winner.

And The Associated Newspapers' 1979 High School All-Area Wrestling

Team is just that - a winner in the truest sense. It has some of the best wrestlers in the state including Belleville senior Joe Justin, a 119-pounder who owns the state title at that weight class, and New Boston Huron's Jeff Melton, a state champ at 112.

Justin and Melton have untarnished records for the 1978-1979 season. The Belleville senior won 37 in a row, while the Huron grappler was a perfect 22-0.

These two hard-nosed wrestlers form the nucleus of the ANP's first team. Joining the undefeated duo on the first team are Plymouth Salem's Jim Schultz (98), Schultz' teammate Jeff Brown (112), Mark Ross, also of Salem (126), Belleville's Scott Harsch and Robichaud's Brian Ceckewicz (138), Belleville's Carl Winekoff (145), Westland John Glenn's Bill Meyer (155), Wayne Memorial's Dave Lusk (165), Westland John Glenn's Jeff Null (178), Robichaud's John Lucas and Romulus heavyweight Darren Cline rounds out the selections.

The ANP second team boasts such fine wrestlers as New Boston Huron's Ken Kittle (98), Wayne Memorial's Dave Shell (105), Robichaud's Matt Davis (112), Huron's Charles Elliott (119), Huron's Gail Cagle (126), Wayne Memorial's Bob Payton (132), Plymouth Salem's Jerry Valchine (138), Westland John Glenn's Duane Gibbs (145), Belleville's Rick Winekoff (155), Salem's Joe Piccola (165), Wayne Memorial's Mike Racinski (178), Steve Cook (191) and Westland John Glenn heavyweight John Burns.

This year's Coach of the Year is Belleville's Gerald Malecek who guided his team to a third place finish in the state after winning the Suburban 8 Conference, Class A district titles and finishing second in the regionals.

JUSTIN is the first Belleville wrestler to win a state Class A championship. The tough senior who alternated between the 119 and 126 pound classes finished his senior year with a perfect 37-0 record becoming the first grappler to go undefeated at that high school. He picked up first place trophies at the Ann Arbor Huron River Rat, Bedford, Wayne Memorial Ott tournaments along with district, regional plaques.

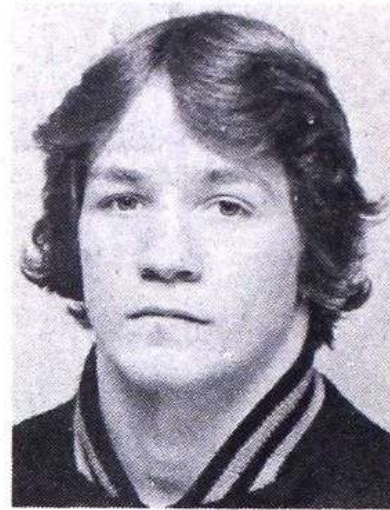

"Joe is a very knowledgeable wrestler who has outstanding endurance," said Coach Gerald Malecek. "I will miss him for a couple of reasons; first, that he is a spendid wrestler and individual; secondly that he also helped to train the lighter weights."

Justin hasn't made up his mind where he would like to continue his education, "but there are a lot of schools who are interested in him," says Malecek.

MELTON is another rare talent who has another year of eligibility ahead of him. He has accomplished just about every goal a high school wrestler dreams of: a state title and an undefeated season. The New Boston senior has a three-year record of 83-6 and this year posted an unbeaten 22-0 mark. A league champ at 112, (he won the title at 105 the last two years), Jeff placed sixth in the state as a freshman before working his way up to the top rung. This week he has been selected to wrestle a touring West German Junior Wrestling team.

"He's a natural wrestler," says Coach Tom Fritz, "and he's been named to almost every team there is in the area. A coach can put him on the mat and walk away. That's how beautiful this kid is."

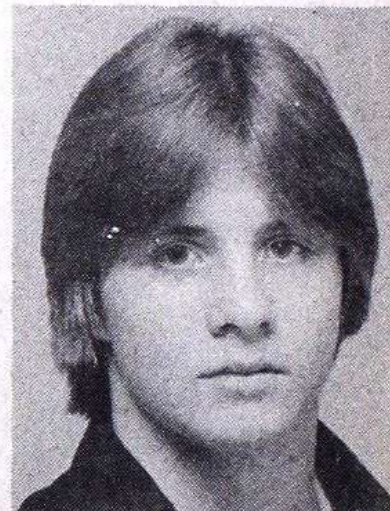

LUSK also came within a couple of victories of winning a coveted Class A state championship. The 165-

McKenzie wins opener, 9-3 as John Glenn, Wayne split

Despite - or was it in spite of? - the weatherman, Wayne Memorial and natural rival, Westland John Glenn launched the 1979 high school baseball season Saturday, splitting a doubleheader.

With small player warnings up due to 35 per hour winds, Glenn coasted to a 9-3 victory behind Ralph McKenzie's nine-hit pitching in the season opener, but dropped the nightcap 11-9, blowing a 5-run first inning lead.

Because of the arctic winds which engulfed Michigan Thursday and Friday, most scheduled games were postponed.

Moreover, the past couple of weeks hasn't been conducive for out-of-doors practice sessions. In fact, Saturday was Wayne's first appearance on the diamond.

"We hadn't had the opportunity because of the weather to practice outside," said Jim Chronowski who began his ninth season as Wayne's head coach. Chronowski is also hurting pitcher-wise. He used nine different throwers who have a total of seven varsity innings of experience on Saturday.

Wayne's lone pitching veteran is Mark Korte who is nursing a shoulder injury sustained during the hockey season.

"We have a lot of catching up to do," said Chronowski, "and, unfortunately, the weather isn't helping us or anybody."

McKenzie went the distance for the Westlanders in the opener. He scattered eight hits - two each to Mark Zerna and Skip Walker, who had a double - walked three and struck out four.

Wayne started junior Bill Fox who worked the first three innings, gave up three runs, five hits and fanned and walked one. He was replaced by senior Bill Spaw who gave way to junior Bill Wilson after two innings of work. Wilson was relieved by senior Roger Bredings.

Daran Armstrong, recently picked All-Area in basketball, started his senior baseball campaign with an impressive three for four at the plate, including a triple and three runs batted in. Tim Ruark belted a pair of singles and had two RBIs, while Rick Robinson also chipped in a couple of hits, including a double and two RBIs.

In the nightcap, the Westlanders routed starter, Walker, with five runs in the first inning and Chronowski put in Ray Lamczki, a right-hander, who received credit for the victory, though he lasted one inning. Bill Wilson finished up and managed to survive a three-run last of the seventh Glenn surge.

Wayne erased its 5-0 first inning deficit with a six-run rally in the second and Lamczki latched on to a two-run single in a 4-run third inning which put the Zebras out in front for good.

Ahead 10-8 after three innings, Wayne scored single runs in the fourth and fifth, then held on as Glenn exploded for three in the bottom of the last inning.

Jeff Bronson, the second of four Glenn pitchers, was charged with the loss. He relieved Robinson who yielded five of the six Wayne runs in the second.

Larry Reid, who had two hits, including a double, and a pair of RBIs, and Ed Turbeville, who checked in with two singles, paced Wayne's eight hit assault, while Armstrong collected two more hits to bring his total to five for the day.

Weather permitting Wayne will begin the 1979 Great Lakes 8 Conference season on Thursday at home to Taylor Center. Their conference game with Truman Monday was rained out.

Johnny Long's night

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

It was Johnny Long's night at the Silverdome Friday night. And for one minor miscue, a Hollywood writer couldn't have found a better script for the evening.

Long, Romulus' contribution to the Detroit Pistons and the National Basketball Association, was honored by a host of local dignitaries, sportscasters and writers, fans and friends.

"It was great," said Rod Hanna, Romulus High cage coach who was seated among the 9,000 fans who took part in the memorable occasion. "The newspapers are filled with items of kids that don't make it - but here's a kid who grew up in Romulus, played ball at the local high school and went on to prove himself in college and now the pros even though many thought he wouldn't make it."

On hand to offer his congratulations to Long was Romulus Mayor William Oakley who pointed out, "that, over the years, the city of Romulus has produced a number of outstanding citizens who have distinguished themselves in a variety of professions, including athletics."

"John, it is appropriate to include you in this group," Mayor Oakley continued. "Because of your athletic achievements, you have brought positive recognition to our city. It is therefore a pleasure for me to present this resolution on behalf of all citizens of Romulus. Congratulations!"

And before he went out on the court and scored a game-high 19 points against the Atlanta Hawks, Long suddenly found his mother on the basketball court alongside of him. Each smiled and Mrs. Long hugged and kissed her son.

A mother's dream comes true.

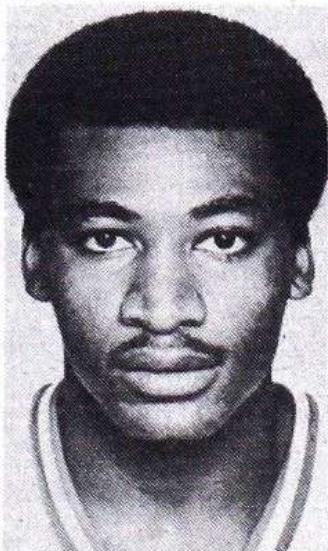

It was Mary Ann Banks, president of the Romulus City Council who had the privilege of presenting "this special lady to the fans."

She said, "As parents, we would like to share with her tonight a mother's pride in her son. As citizens, we would like to publicly declare our pride in John's achievements."

"So, on behalf of the city administration, the city council and all the citizens of Romulus, I am pleased to present you with these roses as our special honor and tribute to you with our best wishes."

We won't go into details of all the records Long has set over the years. But it is interesting to note that the 6-foot-5 cager is a very strong contender for "Rookie of the Year" honors and a starting position on the NBA Rookie All-Star team.

GERALD MALECEK

Coach of the Year

Malecek knows what it takes to be a wrestling champ

Gerald Malecek knows what it takes to become a state champ. He also knows how it feels to stand in the middle of a wrestling mat and be declared a state and Big 10 Conference champ.

For Malecek has had the unique privilege of owning two state wrestling titles as a prep in Iowa, then going on to Michigan State University and capturing Big 10 Conference titles.

His wealth of knowledge has helped produce top-notch wrestlers at Belleville High, a school which finished third this year in the state under Malecek's guidance.

Malecek, whose teams have won the last three Suburban 8 Conference wrestling titles and posted a 10-1 dual meet record this year, along with winning the district title and finishing second to Ypsilanti in the regional, is being honored this week as The Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year.

"We're really proud of our kids and our program in Belleville," says Coach Malecek, "but a lot of credit for our success must be attributed to our junior high programs. Coaches, such as John Gochis, my assistant, and Bob Murry at North along with David Bow at South Junior High deserve as much credit for our success as anyone else."

The 29-year-old Malecek was raised in Iowa where he won the state titles two years in a row while wrestling in a four-year high school program. He was awarded a scholarship to MSU where he won the Big 10 title at 167 pounds in his junior and senior years. He finished fourth in the nation as a senior during the NCAA Invitational.

Malecek began his coaching career at Belleville High in the fall of 1972 and helped turn around a new and inexperienced program to one of the finest in the state.

"We've been fortunate in that we have had some good athletes come along," Malecek said. "These kids have a desire to win and sometimes one must pay the price to win."

Malecek went on to point out "that, in order to whip up team spirit in a sport that is a 'one-on-one' combat situation, we stress many things. Everyone must do his part to win and that's very important here."

Gerald, and his wife, Margie, make their home in Ypsilanti Township.

Because he is losing an excellent crop of seniors, Malecek says "we'll have our problems next year."

But you can bet he isn't waiting until then to resolve them.

All-Area tough team to beat

Area recognition as a football player, was third at the state.

"Dave was a very effective wrestler because he was very difficult to score upon," said Coach John Wood. "He's outstanding on defense as well and an intelligent wrestler."

There is a sidebar to all of this - Wood learned to wrestle from Dave's dad - Bob Lusk, the veteran mentor at Westland John Glenn.

Dave also was Wayne's co-captain this year.

CARL WINEKOFF had the state title in his mitts but let it slip out in the final minutes when Ann Arbor Huron's 145-pounder Tim Fagan scored five quick points to win a 7-3 decision. Carl finished third at the regionals after losing to Fagan in the earlier rounds, but won the district as well as the Suburban 8 Conference titles. At the prestigious Bedford Temperance Tournament, Carl not only won the 145-pound gold medal but also earned the Most Falls Award. He has a string of tournament victories including the Ott, Chelsea and Monroe championships.

CLINE wasn't given a chance to emerge with any state-wide recognition but this determined Romulus senior proved the experts wrong. He went into the Class A state finals with an enviable 34-2 record, knocked off Ann Arbor Pioneer's Alanzo Donnagan in 40 seconds, then startled Owosso's Doug Jones in 42 seconds and disposed of Ypsilanti's Chuck Gannon in 1:59 before losing a crucial 7-3 decision to Flint Northwestern's Derrek Williams who was sporting a 39-1 record going into the state finals.

"Darren is one of the finest wrestlers I have ever had the honor to coach," said Romulus' Wayne Schimming. "Singlehandedly he helped revive our wrestling program."

Romulus lost many of its outstanding wrestlers a year ago when the school district failed to pass a millage which was subsequently approved. Many of the athletes had transferred to neighboring school districts.

SCHULTZ' credentials include a 41-5 record and the Class A district, regional and Suburban 8 Conference championships. The 98-pound Salem junior owns four school records and was voted the team's Most Valuable Wrestler. Not only an excellent wrestler, Jim also is an outstanding student, boasting a 3.5 scholastic average out of a possible 4.0.

BROWN also will be back on the mats for Coach Ron Kruger's Rocks. Losing only three of his 40 matches this season, Jeff garnered seven big first places including the league title at 112 and the Class A district championship. He finished third at the regionals. A two-time state qualifier, Brown has a total of 88 career victories.

ROSS captured the regional championship after finishing second in the districts. He also boasts the prestigious Schoolcraft College Invitational title and a total of seven first places. Finishing third in the conference, the 126-pounder is a junior who could become the best in his class in the state a year from now. He piled up an impressive 36-7 record.

HARSCH is a senior who was one of the most consistent performers on the mats for Belleville. A 132-pounder who also saw plenty of action at 126, Scott owns a 58-20-3 career record with the help of a 29-11 record this season. Wrestling behind state champ Joe Justin hurt his cause, but Harsch proved he can compete against the best as he finished atop of the pile at the district and placed fourth in the regional.

"He's an A-minus student," commented Malecek, "and he gave us the consistency we needed to win."

ROSE also wrestled his final year for Malecek's Tigers. The 138-pound senior amassed a 31-6 won-lost record which included the league championship and a second place medal at the district. Jeff qualified for the state as a junior and a let-down during a crucial match eliminated him from state honors. He finished his prep career with a healthy 56-26 record.

"We're going to miss Jeff next year," says Malecek, "Losing so many of our blue chippers is going to pose a problem."

MEYER has had a distinguished athletic career at John Glenn. Coach Bob Lusk's protegee was the second best wrestler in the state at 155, losing a close and controversial 3-1 decision to Grandville's Jack Nicholson in the state finals. Nicholson had an untarnished 37-0 record after eking out the decision from the Westlander. Meyer entered the state finals with a 35-2 record, then stopped Berkley's Chuck Rapelie 7-2 in the first round at Kalazamoo, before meeting Portage Northern's Steve Stamos who yielded 5-0 to the Rocket grappler. It was Meyer over area foe, Rick Winekoff in the semi-finals, 4-2, before the tide-shattering loss to Nicholson.

"He is one of the finest young men I have coached," said Glenn's Lusk. "He has been an asset to our school and program."

Meyer was also a state runner-up a year ago when he finished second at 145.

NULL is a senior who won the league title at 178 and placed third at the district. Unfortunately, between the district and regional, Jeff sustained a shoulder hurt which prevented him from competing in the regional. A first year regular for Lusk's Rockets, Null was instrumental in helping the Westlanders capture their 12th (in 13 seasons) Northwest Suburban Conference crown.

LUCAS is a legitimate 191 pounder but sacrificed an excellent shot at the state title in that weight to wrestle at heavyweight for Coach Sam Ellis' Bulldogs. Despite the disadvantage of wrestling in the unlimited weight class, Lucas came within one victory of capturing a coveted Class B state gold medal. He lost the state title to Mike Prough on a fall and finished with the silver.

An outstanding grizzer as well, Lucas ended his prep wrestling career with a 37-4-1 over-all record.

"We're all proud of what this young man has accomplished," said Coach Ellis. "There is no doubt in my mind that if John had wrestled at 191 he would have won the state title."

KITTLE also ended an outstanding wrestling career at New Boston Huron as he finished third in the state as a 98-pounder. He won almost everything enroute to the bronze medal and wound up with a phenomenal 35-5-1 won-lost record. Sandwiched between a second place at the Class B districts, Ken claimed the conference as well as regional titles.

"I was disappointed that he was chosen as a second team member in the area," said Coach Tom Fritz, "because I sincerely feel that he's the best 98-pounder around. On a good day he would have emerged as a state champ."

SHELL is a repeat Great Lakes 8 Conference champ and could become one of a handful who can boast winning conference titles three consecutive years. He's only a junior, and the 105-pound Wayne grappler has splendid 51-34 career and a 23-14 junior record.

"Dave hit a midseason slump," explains Coach John Wood, "and had the team and myself very much concerned. He pulled out of it in time to lead us to the league championship."

ELLIOTT is another wrestler who had an auspicious career at New Boston Huron, a team that finished sixth in the state after winning the Class B state title a year ago. A 119-pounder who is a legitimate 126-pounder, Elliott has compiled 122 victories over a span of four years while losing a mere dozen times.

A conference champ who finished second at the district, Elliott was sidelined at the regionals when he failed to make weight.

CAGLE proved indispensable to Huron as a 126 and 132 pounder as he won 28 of his 36 matches this year. Moved to 132 for the league, Gail placed second in the conference, second in the district and finished third in the regional. He won two of his four matches at the state.

"He's a tough wrestler on his feet," noted Fritz, "and I thought he was capable of placing in the state. He finished sixth a year ago."

PAYTON was honored as Wayne Memorial's "Most Dedicated Wrestler." Putting in extra hours on the mat paid off for the 132-pound senior who co-captained the Zebras to a league championship and finished with a 19-14 over-all record this year.

Tolson sets record at Spartan Relays

A "skull session" with his coach earlier in the week apparently paid off for Wayne Memorial's junior track ace, Doug Tolson. Tolson, well on his way to becoming the finest distance runner this area has produced, captured Wayne's first gold medal at the Michigan State University-sponsored Spartan Relays over the weekend by winning the 2-mile run in a record performance.

Tolson zipped across the finish line in 9:16 for his first major win of the young campaign. "Doug and I sat down after his third place finish at EMU and (Continued on 4th Sports)

Romulus' Mighty Mites

Though they didn't have a .500 over-all season record, Dearborn invited Romulus' Mites to compete in its tournament recently and the local Mites responded by sweeping four games to win the championship. Members of the team are Bob Hayley (seated, from left), James Himick, Eric Shellenbarger, Derek Twitchell, Steve

'Underdog' Romulus captures Dearborn hockey tourney title

Dearborn hockey officials will probably think twice before they extend an invitation to the Romulus Mites to compete in any of their future tournaments.

When the officials came up short a team for the ".500 or better tournament", they asked the Mites, who didn't meet that criterion of winning more games than they lost, if they wanted to fill in for the "no show". Coach Greg Brothers said he was grateful and accepted the invitation, then went on to win four straight and capture the 1979 mite tournament championship.

"I think Dearborn was quite surprised at the way we played," Brothers offered. "Our kids had to play two overtime matches to win it. And the team really performed under pressure."

Romulus clashed with Dearborn's Big Bills in the finals and won the thriller 4-3 in the extra period. They also edged Livonia 3-2 in overtime in the semi-final round after beating Dearborn's Anger Hawks 4-3 in the first round and throttling Little Professor in the second round, 7-0.

It was Derek Twitchell's goal, a pass from Keith Brothers, which settled the issue in overtime in the championship game against Big Bill's.

The hard-fought contest was highlighted by Christian Livecche and Scott Zajac's super defense. With Romulus trailing 1-0 in the second period, goalie Alex Bossory made a super save on a penalty shot. Then Romulus came back and got on the board as Ron Rakotz scored with Eric Shellenbarger getting an assist.

Big's countered to take the lead again, but before the period ended, Twitchell fired in a goal on a breakaway to tie the game.

In the third period, Big Bill's broke the deadlock, 3-2 and was near victory when Twitchell again scored the equalizer to force the game into an overtime. Brothers' pass to Twitchell in the extra period sealed the victory for the local mites.

During the league season, the Mites compiled a 9-10-2 record, one victory shy of a .500 record.

"However, we played consistent hockey," noted Coach Brothers. "We went into the tournament hoping to salvage something out of this year. With all the other teams having over .500 records, none gave us a very good shot at winning it."

The mites are skaters in the 6, 7, and 8 age group.

In that crucial semi-final game, there was no scoring in the first period and Romulus goalie, Bossory, was called upon time-and-time again to make some big stops. In fact he stopped 15 shots in the first period.

Livonia drew first blood in the warning minutes of the second period and took a 1-0 lead at the two-minute marker. Up until the final four minutes of the game, Livonia was in command. Then Romulus came alive. Brothers' pass to Phil Lozier was converted into a 2-1 breakaway and the Mites' first goal and with 1:20 left, Romulus pulled its goalie and Frank Swinck scored on a scramble in front of the Livonia net to tie it up.

In the extra period, Brothers shoved in the decisive goal with Swinck getting credit for the assist.

Softballers needed

Tolson sets another record

decided we'd have to change our strategy," said Ernie Righetti, Wayne Memorial track coach. "We figured Doug would have to go out and set the pace and that, in my opinion, is what he did at MSU."

Tolson kept in front of the pack all the way as he toured the 2-miles in a record-eclipsing time. The 9:16 was the best time recorded in the state this season.

Tolson came back to run against a fresh one-mile field and finished fourth with a 4:23.4, but Coach Righetti pointed out that none of the runners who finished ahead of Doug competed in the two-mile race.

Earlier in the week Wayne Memorial launched the Great Lakes 8 Conference season with a 76-55 triumph over Taylor Truman. Tolson was a triple winner, sweeping both his specialties - the mile and two mile along with the half-mile run. Wayne chalked up eight out of a possible 16 first places.

The Zebras also got past arch-rivals, Westland John Glenn, and Garden City West in their traditional triangular opener last week. Wayne garnered 68 points as compared to Glenn's 60 and West's 36.

Glenn's Brad Jennings claimed two of Westland's four first places. He leaped 6 feet in the high jump and ran the 120-yard hurdles in 15.8. Tolson again accounted for three Wayne firsts as he picked up the 2-mile, mile and half-mile events without much difficulty.

Most of the area track teams will be represented at the talent-packed Mansfield, Ohio Relays on Friday where they will get a glimpse at some of their rivals from Ohio, Indiana and Canada. The Mansfield Relays has become one of the biggest of its kind.

Top Romulus cagers

With an excellent 16-6 won-lost cage record behind them, Romulus High and head coach Ron Hanna paused last week to pay tribute to three outstanding players who helped make the Eagles winners in 1979. The three - John Kersey (second, from left), Tom Schick (center) and Richard Lewis (at right) are pictured here after receiving awards and congratulations from Coach Hanna (at left). Kersey, the Eagles'

co-captain, was voted Romulus's MVP and will be attending Wayne State University this fall on a football scholarship, while Schick is the team's scholar, boasting a 3.2 academic average. Lewis, a co-captain, was voted the team's most improved player and will be back next year to form the nucleus of Hanna's third varsity squad at the high school.

Belleville hosts Pitch, Run & Hit

If you're between 9 and 12 years old, can pitch and hit a baseball and run 90 feet, you have a chance to become a national champion in the Major League's official youth Pitch, Hit & Run contest.

Now in its third year, this national competition is being sponsored by the 2,300 participating Burger King restaurants throughout the country.

The program is co-sponsored by the National Parks and Recreation Association and developed in cooperation with the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

Area youngsters who are interested in competing in the contest should get entry blanks at the Burger King restaurants nearest them. Ron Hellier, athletic director at Belleville High School, said that the "PH&R" competition in Van Buren will be held 1 p.m., May 6 at Belleville High School.

Area registration is held from April 2 to April 30, with the local competitions starting on May 5. The program continues through four levels of elimination until two contestants remain in each of the four age brackets (9,10,11,12). The finals will be held as part of the All-Star festivities in Seattle on July 17.

Each youngster competes in three categories: pitching at a target, hitting for distance and running the base path for speed.

Last year's winners were 9-year-old Berk Edwards, of Florida; 10-year-old Lawrence Dela Cruz of Texas' 11-year-old Brian McFadden of Washington and 12-year-old Anthony Holmdel of New Jersey. McFadden led all pitchers with three perfect throws, while Noweski recorded the longest hit, 275 feet, 5 inches and the fastest run,

Fitzpatrick's a winner

In a tough exhibition match held at the Pabst National Collegiate Billiards Championship, top-seeded Julie Fitzpatrick of the University of Wisconsin-Madison defeated Mike Jolly, defensive safety for the Michigan Wolverines.

The match, held at the Michigan Union Ballroom on the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor Campus, kicked off the national championships.

Fitzpatrick defeated Jolly by a score of 65-15 in the 14.1 continuous, often called straight, pool match.

Regularly scheduled matches for the double elimination championship tournament began last Thursday. All matches are played at the Michigan Union Ballroom.

The tournament brings together the top collegiate men and women billiards from across the country to determine who will be the National Collegiate Championships for 1979.

Chocolate-covered Easter egg

One of the surest signs of Easter season is the Easter egg, whether it be real, tinted and hard-cooked; or a chocolate-covered candy egg. Eggs are very much a part of Easter, not only in America but in many other countries in the world.

The coloring of eggs for spring festivals is a very old custom and is believed to long predate Christianity. The Egyptians and the Persians, the Greeks and the Romans, all colored eggs. Many believe that warriors during the time of the Crusade brought back to Europe the custom of coloring and decorating eggs. Today, this custom continues and the entire Easter egg preparation is looked forward to by families, especially those with small children.

One of the most delicious and delightful Easter egg treats is a chocolate-covered Easter Egg. Here's a great idea for making one at home. This fondant-type confection filled with tender, moist Baker's Angel Flake coconut and covered with Baker's semi-sweet chocolate, will be the piece de resistance on Easter. Make it especially attractive with a confectioners sugar glaze decoration and nestle it in a bed of softly tinted flaked coconut.

There's long been the puzzle of how the rabbit became associated with the delivery of the Easter egg in America. There have been several explanations offered, but if you display this masterpiece confection, the question will not be raised in your household. Your family will know that it was "Mom" who brought the egg!

Chocolate-covered Easter egg

1 pound unsifted confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1 tablespoon softened butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
Dash cream of tartar
one-third cup flaked coconut
4 drops yellow food coloring
1 drop red food coloring
Easy Chocolate coating
Confectioners Sugar Glaze

Combine sugar, water, corn syrup, butter, vanilla, salt, almond extract and cream of tartar in bowl and mix thoroughly. (Mixture will be crumbly.) Add coconut, mix until smooth, and shape into one large egg, about 7 inches long. Cut in half lengthwise; scoop out about 1 1/2 tablespoons at round end of each half and place in small bowl. Blend in yellow and red food coloring. Return tinted mixture to egg halves. Press halves firmly together, pinching to seal edges.

Cover entire egg with Easy Chocolate Coating and let stand until chocolate is firm. Decorate egg with Confectioners Sugar Glaze and place on a nest of tinted flaked coconut, if desired. Makes 1 1/2 pounds.

NOTE: Candy may be shaped, wrapped and stored a day before coating with chocolate.

EASY CHOCOLATE COATING: Partially melt 4 squares semi-sweet chocolate over hot water. Remove from water; stir rapidly until entirely melted. Let stand until cool.

CONFECTIONERS SUGAR GLAZE: Gradually add about 1 to 2 teaspoons hot milk or water to 1/2 cup sifted confectioners sugar, blending well until of desired consistency.

TINTED COCONUT: Mix 1/2 teaspoon milk or water with a few drops green food coloring. Add to one-third cup flaked coconut in a bowl; toss with fork to tint evenly.

For the youngsters, Easter means a parade of sweet goodies — jelly beans, marshmallow chicks and chocolate eggs, to name a few. This year, why not add some alternatives to the usual list of candies by introducing some homemade sweets that will please both young and old alike.

Everyone in the house will be happily surprised to find a basket filled with crisp raisin Easter cookies waiting for them on Easter morning. These giant, egg-shaped cookies are unusually tasty because of the chewy, sweet raisins in the cookie dough. Plumped in water for a few minutes before being added to the dough, the raisins take on a moist, tender texture that adds a nice touch to the nutmeg-scented cookie. A brush of egg white and sprinkling of sugar before baking produces a shiny, crisp cookie topping.

Although higher in price this year because of severe crop damage, raisins still are available. The California raisin industry is estimating that supermarkets will be stocked with raisins at least through the Easter and spring season. So now's the perfect time to use raisins in your favorite ways.

Raisin Sugar Eggs

1 cup raisins
3/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon milk
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
3 1/4 cups flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg white
Sugar

Pour hot water over raisins to cover. Let stand 3 minutes; drain and set aside. In mixing bowl, cream butter. Add sugar; beat fluffy. Beat in eggs, milk and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder, nutmeg and salt; stir in just to blend. Mix in raisins. Chill dough 3 hours.

Roll out to 1/4-inch thickness on floured pastry cloth. Cut into giant egg shapes or into circles, using a 3 or 4-inch cookie cutter. Brush generously with egg white; sprinkle with sugar. Bake in 400-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes, until golden brown. Makes 1 1/2 to 2 dozen 4-inch cookies.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

AHA! Our sleuthing has paid off and we've put the finger on "The Belleville Flash"!

A former resident of this community, Bessie Harris, called last week to let us know that her old neighbors, Louie and Ann Balint of Harbour Heights, Fla., (they lived on Lakeview Court prior to their move) use that handle when doing their CB-ing.

Bessie, who subscribes to our paper and saw the APB, is here from Port Charlotte, Fla. to take part in all the pre-nuptial festivities planned for her son, Jack, and his bride-to-be Carol Gannon. Jack, who teaches at South Junior High School, and Carol, a home economics teacher at Lincoln High School, will be wine, dined and "showered" in the days leading up to their April 21 wedding. And it's to be a double wedding at that; Carol's sister and her fiance sharing the big event.

Paid my first visit to the library in my new hometown of Tecumseh on that wintery day we experienced last week. Since I know hardly anyone in my new digs, it is surprising that my one contact should be at the library — and a relative at that! None other than Doris Day herself!

Naw, I'm kidding you! It's Doris Day all right, but NOT herself! Doris is BG's cousin who a few years back was head librarian in the city and who (since her widowhood) decided she wanted to return to work but only on a parttime basis.

It was interesting having someone on the "inside" explain the procedures and escort me on a tour of the place. And it's surprising how differently the Lenawee County Library System is from that of Wayne County.

I now have a library card which is a must for checking out books. I no longer have to fill out slips for my selections, I merely hand them my ID and they punch the due date on each file card. Most books can be taken out for a 4-week period but current reading and some technical books are limited to shorter loans.

It's a lovely, fairly new and huge facility and I consider myself lucky to have still another fine library system right at my fingertips.

BG and I attended our first "social" function last week — checking out the way Tecumsehites do a benefit. Read in the local paper that the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary was hosting its annual salad luncheon and that they'd served close to 500 people the previous year. It sounded interesting and when Emily (BG's Girl Friday) gave her stamp of approval to the event, BG decided all right, he'd be my date.

And it was super! Picture in your mind, if you can, a cafeteria counter about 24 feet long and about four feet wide loaded with every kind of salad imaginable; now eliminate all but about three gelatine dishes (they were not much in evidence.)

We chose from hot and cold chicken, shrimp, ham and molded corn beef salads; German and conventional potato salads; kidney, navy bean and four-bean versions; various cabbage salads; fruit dishes (frozen recipes, fresh mixed, ambrosias, etc.); a collage of spinach concoctions; other greenery bowls; deviled eggs and egg aspic; marinated vegetables and huge relish trays... It was a delightful (and filling) meal and I ate every last morsel!

The capper for the afternoon (there was no dessert — just hot rolls and coffee) was adding still another salad to my steadily growing recipe file. And next time I'm asked to "bring a dish", the hostess can count on me for a really delicious fresh mushroom-broccoli bowl.

FROM THE MAIL ROOM comes still another nice letter, this time from a former resident and confirmed reader of our paper. Louise Dempsey writes from Moran in Michigan's Upper Peninsula to say:

"I really enjoy your articles ('potpourri') especially the down to earth happenings of your family. It is great of you to share these experiences with others. Missed your write-up this week, March 28th."

Mrs. Dempsey (who semi-annually sends us articles extolling the beauty of the U.P. has contributed still another story which can be found elsewhere on today's Suburban Living pages. She is one of Michigan's best P.R. people and Brevort-Moran's Chamber of Commerce should dearly love her!

With ham being the traditional entree for Easter, there are usually a few leftovers to contend with and here's one way to use up at least a portion of your meat. It comes from my own shoe box file and was contributed by Phyllis Gray some years back when she was featured as one of my "Cooks of the Week."

HAM LOAF

1 lb. ground ham
1 lb. hamburger
2 slices bread (broken into pieces)
1/2 cup tomato juice
1 egg

Mix the meats well and add the remaining ingredients. (The mixture can also be made into balls if you so desire.) Pat into a loaf pan and top with a mixture of 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard and one-third cup cider vinegar. Bake in a hot oven at 400 degrees for about one hour.

And still another way to put that ham to use (other than in sandwiches or with eggs for breakfast) is this goody my sister-in-law Flo shared with me some time ago.

HAM SPAGHETTI

Cook 2 medium tomatoes cut in thin wedges and 1/2 medium green pepper cut in strips in 1/4 cup cooking oil over low heat just until hot. Add 6 green onions cut in 1" pieces and 18-20 thin strips cooked ham. Season with 1/2 teaspoon basil and salt and pepper to taste. Cook, stirring gently, until ham is heated through. Combine ham mixture with hot cooked spaghetti (1 lb. uncooked). Sprinkle with one-third cup parmesan cheese. That's all there is to it!

If you notice the absence of "potpourri" for the next two weeks, I will be delighted! It will mean you look for this weekly epistle and that, to a writer, is quite the nicest of compliments. I received a real boost last week when several readers asked "Where was your column this week?" Thanks!

As you read this today you can think of us winging our way south — to North Carolina and the Turney's home on the Carolina Trace near Sanford. That's where several of us will be spending our traditional Easter golf vacation this time and you can just imagine how much we're looking forward to a little "R & R" after the past three weeks of moving and "settling in." Y'all have a really nice Easter — hope we all luck out on good weather.

THE BOTTOM LINE: One of the surest ways of preserving the illusion of youth is the scrupulous avoidance of all class reunions past the 10th.

Teachers 'quilt' for festival

Quilting has become a way of life for members of Gamma Gamma Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa (ADK) international honorary sorority for women educators, who are taking an active part in this year's Strawberry Festival. As their contribution the group plans to raffle a handmade quilt which they are currently putting together piece by piece. At their April 3 meeting at the home of Dorothy Arthur, this quintet was captured at the quilting frame: (clockwise from left) Wanda Shirley, retired Van Buren Schools teacher; Phyllis Gray of Savage School; Sally Griffith of Quirk School; Leona Kozma, compensatory education coordinator, and Patsy Pyshnik of Edgemont School. The log cabin design in navy, red, yellow and green calico prints is being done in queen-size and will be raffled on the final day of the festival, June 17. Profits will be used to purchase a blood pressure kit for the Van Buren Public Schools to teach children how to take a blood pressure reading and to become more aware of keeping a check on their blood pressure. Mrs. Arthur's co-hostesses were Anne Smith, Marge Vaniadis and Sally Griffith.

Area Girl Scouts celebrate

Approximately 90 Girl Scouts and their parents from Hale Creek School held their annual birthday celebration in honor of Juliette Low, the first person to hold a Girl Scout meeting in the United States. This was held March 12, 1912 in Savannah. Entertainment was provided by the girls themselves with various skits and songs. The finale was a skit presented by the girls' leaders on "How not to Administer First Aid".

Taking part were Brownie leaders and co-leaders Sharon Seabolt, Linda Stoddard, Carol Mills, Sandy Kvicala, Bonnie Daniska and Donna Rock; Junior leaders, Fred Havelka and Linda Havelka and Cadette leader, Pat Stewart.

Master of ceremonies for the program was Troop Services Director Mary Brown. The cafeteria was decorated in bright spring colors with several handmade kites decorating the walls. A delicious buffet dinner, including approximately 50 salads and desserts, was served.

Parents and girls were reminded that 1979 has been designated International Year of the Child by the United Nations and that as scouts, and most certainly as parents of these children, we should help them attain their highest possible achievements.

A special thanks to Art McPharlin, principal, for the use of the school; to Meijers Thrifty Acres for their contributions, and to all the mothers who donated mountains of food which helped make this a very special scouting night.

CP-70 Electric Grand YAMAHA

Yamaha announces the first full grand piano that you can carry with one hand.

Introducing the CP-70

Yamaha's new CP-70 is full 73 keys electric grand piano that offers both the sound and touch characteristics of an acoustical instrument.

Until now, the touring piano player has had to sit down to an unfamiliar instrument every time he has performed. The action, the sound of the borrowed piano was always new and uncertain. Also, many studios, clubs and stages didn't have room for a full-size grand. Moreover, when the acoustic piano had to be amplified, it was extremely difficult, if not impossible, to retain the true sound.

But Yamaha has changed all that.

The exciting new Electric CP-70 has the sound and feel of a full-size grand piano. Yet its size and weight have been greatly reduced, making it easy to take it anywhere. Compact, sturdy and loaded with versatility, the Electric Grand combines the artistry of musical craftsmanship with the technical skills of electronic engineering.

Electronics

The Electric Grand was made to be amplified. To help capture its true acoustically created sound, Yamaha installed 73 independent piezoelectric pickups for the entire keyboard. The electronics section has permanently mounted pickup preamps, so you never have to worry about installation. You can get just the sound you want by using the three tone controls (BASS, MIDDLE, TREBLE). For quickly returning to "flat" response, the tone controls are detented in the center position. There is even a special tremolo with two out-of-phase outputs, so you can get rotary effects from a pair of speaker systems. All this, yet the CP-70 Electric Grand is an acoustic piano.

BELLEVILLE CHIROPRACTIC LIFE CENTER

175 Second St., Belleville

BARTELL CHIROPRACTIC LIFE CENTER

23810 Mich. Ave. (at Telegraph), Dearborn

The most valuable asset of a family is that everyone is enjoying good health.

Chiropractic has been the method of choice for restoring health and vitality to millions of families throughout the world. More and more intelligent people everywhere are realizing good health is gained and maintained only when a normal flow of nerve energy flows from the brain, down the spinal cord, and out between important spinal vertebrae to our vital body organs and tissues.

Baby Sally's colic may be caused by spinal pressure on the nerves which lead to the millions of glands that carry out the digestive processes. Gentle spinal adjustments are administered to normalize your baby's spine.

Mother's migraine headaches are usually caused by a severe spinal twist at the base of the brain. That's why the headache usually occurs on one side of the head. When mother becomes tense and excited the neck muscles tense up, pulling the vertebrae tighter against the spinal cord. Once the cause of her headaches is corrected, she will once again be the happy, healthy, and loving mother she should be.

Dad's low back trouble may be caused by a wrenching of the lower spinal vertebrae and pelvic bones. Conditions of this type often respond readily to chiropractic care.

Pain, stiffness, and swollen joints indicate the presence of inflamed joints. Because chiropractors are especially trained to adjust spines and restore a normal nerve energy flow to all of the joints, the kidneys and adrenal glands, they have been highly successful in caring for arthritis and other disorders that affect the joints.

Junior may suffer with bed wetting, frequent colds, irritability, constipation, loss of appetite and many other conditions. Tension on the nerves in the neck may also affect his school work. Many parents report an increase in the scholastic ability following chiropractic attention.

High blood pressure over a long period of time causes a great strain on the circulatory pump, the human heart. It is often the predisposing factor in heart attacks or paralytic strokes. High blood pressure many times is caused by spinal pressure on nerves leading to the major blood vessels.

Regardless of the health problem you or any member of your family may have, it is entirely possible that your family chiropractor can replace despair and sorrow with glowing health and happiness.

Spinal pressure and tension on sensitive, delicate nerves may cause many diseases. Chiropractors are especially trained to analyze and correct spinal distortions, thereby preventing further disability, suffering, and expense.

Guild stages exhibit

For the first time the National Guild of Decoupeurs will hold its National Decoupage Exhibition in Michigan. The exhibit, presented annually, is supported by the State of Michigan through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

The exhibit is open to the public on April 27 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and April 28 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Dearborn Inn, Dearborn. It will be held in conjunction with the seventh annual convention of the guild. Convention chairman is Mrs. Ronald V. Sartor of Grosse Pointe.

Every decoupage art form will be shown in the exhibit, with articles executed by members of the guild throughout the country. There also will be special exhibits from the Decoupeurs Guild of Ontario and from the New England Guild of Decoupeurs.

Of particular interest will be a dining room set executed by Mrs. Elizabeth Suarez of Dearborn, and a miniature home, totally built by Mr. and Mrs. Armond Reid of Detroit. A glass plate collection planned for the White House also will be on display. Other items will include many articles of furniture, wall hangings, lamps, screens, boxes, purses and how-to exhibits. A $1 donation is suggested to view the exhibit and help support the educational objectives of the guild.

The National Guild of Decoupeurs is a non-profit organization, incorporated in the State of Michigan seven years ago and its members are dedicated to the preservation and study of the 300-year-old art. Michigan was the springboard for the formation of the guild, with one of its members, Mrs. James O. Hoyt of Grosse Pointe a founder and the first president.

The guild researched and established decoupage standards which include sculptured prints, creative cutting, elevations, illuminations and three-dimensional compositions, decoupage on and under glass, wood, and ceramics and the use of fabrics.

While decoupage "under varnish" is most common to the layman, there are 10 out of the 15 recognized techniques which do not require varnish. By executing the different techniques, which are then judged, members may advance from layman to journeyman to the coveted mastercraftsman. There are nine masters in the country, with one from Michigan, Mrs. Leonard Popham of Marysville. All masters will be in town for the convention with displays of their works.

The guild maintains its headquarters at 807 Rivard Blvd., Grosse Pointe.

Circus festival of Monte Carlo comes to Cobo Hall May 1-6

The Festival International Du Cirque De Monte Carlo Spectacular, under the high patronage of His Serene Highness Prince Rainier III, is scheduled to appear at Detroit's Cobo Arena for 10 performances, May 1 through May 6 and at the Saginaw Civic Center for 4 performances, May 8 and May 9.

Featured in the North American debut of the elegant, European-styled circus extravaganza are award-winning performers from around the world who have never before appeared in North America. Each has participated, by invitation, in the annual International Circus Festival of Monte Carlo, the largest and most prestigious competition of its kind in the world, comparable in professional stature to the Oscar and Olympic Gold Medal.

The Circus Festival was founded five years ago by His Serene Highness Prince Rainier III to honor and perpetuate the long history of Circus arts in Europe, comparable by European standards to American theatre, ballet, and opera.

Highlighted in the Festival International Du Cirque De Monte Carlo Spectacular, produced by Irvin Feld and Kenneth Feld of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, are the Albarracines, young aerial cradle duo, most recently on tour in Switzerland; Luis Munoz, Spain's electrifying tightwire walker; the richters, Hungary's dynamic elephant training family whose talented skills transform ponderous pachyderms into acrobatic artists; England's hilarious Fawcett Chimpanzees; the Eotvos Family, Eastern Europe's popular musical clown team; the Silagis, continental teeterboard champions for over twenty years; and Britain's thrilling aerial genius Elvin Bale, "the man that fear forgot," plus a host of other elite Circus performers.

The unique live circus action, which takes place in a 42-foot carpeted ring encircled by special, royal box seats, is augmented by filmed color highlights of the actual festival with a personal, royal greeting from His Serene Highness Prince Rainier III projected on the "larger than life" screen.

Tickets for the Detroit engagement of the Festival International Du Cirque De Monte Carlo Spectacular, priced at $8, $6, and $5, are on sale at the Cobo Arena Box Office. A $2 discount for children under 12 will be available for selected performances. Group discounts are available by contacting Linda Wesson at (419) 882-5875.

The Eccentricities of a Nightengale", a critically acclaimed rewrite by Tennessee Williams of his play "Summer and Smoke", will open April 20 for a two-weekend run at "The Eccentricities of a Nightengale", a critically acclaimed rewrite by Tennessee Williams of his play "Summer and Smoke", will open April 20 for a two-weekend run at the Bonstelle Theater on the Campus of Wayne State University in Detroit. "Eccentricities" will play through April 29 with Friday and Saturday performances at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. Williams called this story of a sensitive woman's complex, heart-breaking relationship with a young doctor, one of his favorite works. April 19 lecture surveys genius of Charles Kettering

New insights on the greatness of the late Charles F. Kettering will be revealed by his friend Robert G. Chollar April 19 in an 8 p.m. lecture in the Henry Ford Museum Theater.

Kettering, who is best remembered for replacing the automobile crank with a self-starter, is one of four distinguished inventors featured by the Museum in its 50th anniversary Famous Americans Lecture Series. The final lecture is on Henry Ford on May 24.

Chollar will discuss Kettering's wide-ranging inventions, including an improved ignition system and the development of ethyl gasoline as an antidote for engine knocking, and his ability to attack problems by marshaling forces from many disciplines. This approach led him to excel in the worlds of industrial research, manufacturing, medicine, agriculture and chemistry.

Throughout his distinguished career, he was as interested in advancement of the general welfare of humanity as in the development of products. He supported investigations of the causes of cancer, sought ways to increase the world food supply, and worked to discover how the use of solar energy by plants could lead to new sources of energy for man.

Chollar, president and chairman of the Board of Directors of the Charles F. Kettering Foundation since 1971, is a former vice-president for research and development, National Cash Register Co. and a trustee of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research.

Lecture admission is $3.

Theatre-guild stages 'Habeaus Corpus'

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford is concluding its Silver Anniversary Season by presenting "Habeaus Corpus", by Alan Bennett.

A hilarious farce, the play is sure to delight its audiences by the deeds and misdeeds of its frolicksome characters. Under the direction of Dennis Broadhead, comedy rises to new heights. Broadhead has directed "The Real Inspector Hound," "The Bald Soprano," and "The Drunkard" for TGLR.

Dr. Wicksteed, played by Charles Greenia, is not what one would expect of a gentleman English doctor. Greenia played in TGLR's "Equus," and appeared in "The Brownsville Raid" and "Candide" at the Bonstelle Theatre. He has also sung and danced in the chorus of a musical revue entitled "Impressions" for the young people's stage.

Mattie Wolf is the good doctor's wife, Mrs. Wicksteed. A veteran of 30 years of theatre, she has directed for Grand Circle Exchange, Avon Players and Stagecrafters. In the past 10 years she has worked with Stagecrafters, Macomb Barn Theatre, Avon Players, and TGLR. She has served on TGLR's Board of Directors for two years.

Dennis Wicksteed, their son, frequently suffers from some dreaded disease. Ben Dean's appearance in this role follows many stage credits, including "Arsenic and Old Lace," "He Ain't Done Right By Nell," "Babes in Arms," "6 Rms Riv Vu," "Candide," "Diary of Anne Frank," "God's Favorite," "Royal Family," "The Zoo Story," and "Mousetrap."

Dr. Wicksteed's sister, Connie, is played by Judith Tibbitts. She is new to TGLR, and has been with the Farmington Players and has been very active in community theatre. She has appeared in "Twelfth Night," "Night of the Iguana," "Hay Fever," "The Seagull," and "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The window lady, Delia Rumpers, is played by Sandra Sutherland. She has appeared in "The Rape of the Belt," "Private Lives," "Importance of Being Earnest," and "California Suite" with the Farmington Players; and "Private Lives," "Plaza Suite,"

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers," and "Prisoner of Second Avenue" with the Turgeon & Launce Dinner Theatre.

Her daughter, Felicity Rumpers, is portrayed by Karen Anderson, who is appearing for the first time with TGLR. She has been with the Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre, Taking roles in such shows as "Prisoner of Second Avenue," "The Rainmaker," "Oh Dad! Poor Dad...," "Catch Me If You Can," "Witness for the Prosecution," the "Wizard of Oz" and "Arthur and the Magic Sword" with the Children's Theatre; and "Rumplestiltskin" with Greenfield Village.

Canon Throbbing, a young vicar, is played by Charles Miller. This is his first show with TGLR. He has returned this year after 16 years of theatre inactivity to appear at the Mayflower Dinner Theatre in "Mary, Mary." He has performed in "Brigadoon," "Carousel," "Tall Story," "Laura," as well as in other productions.

Ralph Rosati plays Sir Percy Shorter, a respected medical doctor who finds himself entangled in the Wicksteed capers. His stage experience includes "Blithe Spirit," "The Homecoming" and "Guys and Dolls" with the Rosedale Players; "Barefoot in the Park" with the Launce Dinner Theatre.

Artist holds 1-man show

Ronald Warunek is having his second one-man show at the Fine Arts Gallery of the Village Plaza in Dearborn—April 21, to May 15, 1979.

At this exhibit, he will introduce for the first time, photographs taken one step further by drawing and tracing directly upon them with a black magic marker. This does not dull the high gloss of the photo, due to the equal gloss of the ink.

Warunek is the innovator of the Fusion concept, which is the joining of two or more of the senses, or arts or sciences in any conceivable combination.

At this exhibit, one will experience several works—the fusion of painting and sound. This is accomplished by placing behind the picture sound devices, such as music boxes, sound synthesizers, and cassette recorders.

The artist was born in Detroit. He was reared and educated in Dearborn Heights, where he lived and worked until he moved to Melvindale in 1978. Warunek began painting in 1969 and is self taught.

Home tour benefits art institute

On May 6, interested persons will have an exceptional opportunity to visit the Edsel and Eleanor Ford house and assist the Detroit Institute of Arts acquisition of three ancient Persian objects.

The Antiquaries, an auxiliary of the museum's Founders Society with special interest in ancient art, have planned the 4 to 7 p.m. visit at the Ford residence on Gaultier Point. Museum director Dr. Frederick Cummings will discuss the artistic interests of Eleanor Clay Ford, as reflected in the house (designed in 1927 by Albert Kahn), its appointments and landscaping.

Proceeds from the $50-per-person donation will benefit purchase funds for three rare Achaemenid reliefs (6th-4th century B.C.) from the palace complex at Persepolis in central Iran.

Reservations must be made in advance; details may be obtained by writing The Antiquaries, Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Avenue, Detroit 48202, or by telephoning the museum's Department of Ancient Art at 833-7875.

A spring message from the U.P.'s greatest booster

Every so often your Suburban Living Editor has the good fortune to hear from a transplanted Bellevillite, Mrs. Louise Dempsey, who is now residing in the Brevort-Moran area of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. An avid fan of her northern surroundings, Mrs. Dempsey has sent us letters in the past on her seasonal experiences. "It has bothered me," she writes, "because I did not send a 'write up' to brag about the Upper Peninsula. That truly isn't the word I would like to use but it fits.

Accept my apology for the botched up typing and corrections and please make any changes you feel necessary, won't you? Use what I have sent you if you wish. I still feel a part of the Ypsi-Belleville community having lived in each since 1939.

Best wishes, thank you and have a great spring and summer."

By LOUISE DEMPSEY

Greetings to friends in Belleville and surrounding areas.

It seems that I missed writing last fall helping to promote the U.P.'s rarities and beauties. I believe the "millionaire" party took precedence although it should not have done so. Nothing exceeds what can be found in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Because of the aforementioned party, this letter will be half winter and half spring.

Winter was a dilly, and only as far as the amount of snow that fell. Our driveway of 250 feet is kept open by the county but it never failed to find us snowed in come the weekend. County workers do not work then so out comes the old faithful Ariens snowblower and I often wondered if it was a mechanical man or a spaceman operating it as all that I could see were two eyes.

Guess who pushed moving to the U.P.? I consider myself very fortunate to have a husband who had never spent an entire winter in this area and now never a word of complaint. I did forewarn him about winter and his only answer was that if he could dress warmly and as he wished he would not mind. Dressing as he wishes. Could that be why I saw only two eyes?

Actually we have had no severe blizzards or storms to date which generally means power outages. (I should not have written that statement.) We start up our generator regularly to be sure it is always operational (just in case.) I always thought generators were a very important factor in cars but I have learned that they are important in the U.P. also; especially when the temperatures skid, a different type generator but associated with power.

Christmas seems ages ago and at last we look forward to the blessed and wonderful time that the Easter weekend brings to us. Birth - death - resurrection and the great hope which we are given of eternal life through His birth and death.

I wish that the Easter season could bring me the same happiness as Christmas did because there was a visit from my son and his family — the Brian Birk's. However young people do have other commitments and over 300 miles is a long distance for a short time. Our grandson, Matthew, wasn't too sure that he could ride a toboggan on the hills until his grandpa put on an act for him and went downhill. Here I wondered if the sled was going to sink in the snow. Matthew brought back long forgotten memories of my own youth such as "making angels in the snow." What fun we had and I must say, "Thank you Matthew." Grandma isn't old enough yet to forget what fun a person can have in the snow. We have gone skiing and snowshoeing but those cold days made such excursions less frequent this winter.

Are you tired of reading about snow? We are tired of seeing it and unless by some miracle the sun shines each day for the next few weeks, we will be seeing it at Easter. My tulips and spring bulbs are foolishly peeking out, tired of the snow too.

It is spring, we know, and our thoughts now wander to seeing cars, motor homes, travel trailers etc. lined up along U.S. 2 here for the exceptionally good smelt fishing of our streams, that is unless gas prices limit travel. We hope not, both for the fisherman and for the U.P. After the smelt fishing so many other activities begin. The wonders of Nature come to life.

We watch for the deer leaving their winter yarding areas; the trees slowly putting on their summer dresses; the sap flowing from the maples; ice breaking into sections on Lake Michigan and being replaced by surf-like waves; the woods bursting forth with the myriad colors of so many wild flowers; the fragrance of camp fires — on and on —

By the way, Lee, better try to get in a visit to our Mackinac Island in May this year. What a thrill it will be to see "Superman" in person. Naturally the Grand Hotel will be the focus for the movie to be filmed there and everyone seems to be very jubilant over this filming to last approximately five or six weeks. My yearly jaunt to the island will be made in May this year.

Michigan's U.P. cannot be surpassed in anyway. I sincerely hope the powers that be realize such beauty and wonders exist here and wake up in time to know what gasoline shortages and rising prices could do to so many struggling regions.

There is now a way that I could resist mentioning my "Home" — the Copper Country. Some day only memories will take me back but as long as I am permitted to do so, I will spend time there and no doubt it will be in one of our state's most beautiful and spacious parks (in our motor home.) It will be a toss up between McLain State Park in Houghton County or the state park at Fort Wilkins in Keweenaw County.

Home will always be the Copper Country but we are finding ourselves extolling some of the historic areas in our present residence in Brevort also. We are told that in the early settlement years the Indians would pick blueberries on our properties. After clearing the lands they would set the woods afire to assure a good crop the next year; all this so very long ago. Now we pick the berries and enjoy such a variety of magnificent trees.

I try to keep up on Belleville news through the Enterprise we receive each week and I would like to extend my congratulations to Lee Vandecar whose picture and story appeared recently. He will not remember me by name but mention the removal of a tooth early one morning while he was still at W.R. and it might refresh his memory. He and his family are special people. So many people will stay in my thoughts from my working days in a dental office.

Reminiscing time has come to an end and so I will say "thank you" for giving me time and space in your paper.

TOPS installs new officers

TOPS No. Mi. 380 of Belleville (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) held its 15th annual installation of officers on March 28 with the following results: Martha Brown, leader; Helen Girard, co-leader; Carol Caudill, secretary, and Barbara Kwiecinski, treasurer.

Also installed was the group's new weight recorder, Jo Ann Danlovich, who was appointed by the new leader. Following the ceremony the out-going leader, Helen Girard, conducted a ceremony in which all members rededicated themselves to lose weight and be more helpful to other members.

TOPS meets each Wednesday evening at the United Presbyterian Church of Belleville at 11900 Belleville Road.

Senior citizens plan for Easter

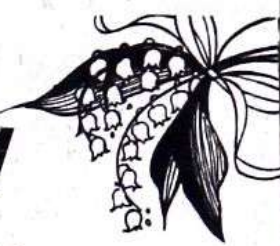

David C. Ries, president of Romulus Senior Citizen Club No. 1, reports that the group's 50-50 raffle is moving along at a good pace. But the drawing date for the shared prize is May 29, not March 29 as stated in an earlier edition.

Groceries were the prizes when the club met for bingo at its last meeting. Tavia Crookston visited the club on April 3 and was welcomed as a new member.

On April 17 Easter will be celebrated with an Easter potluck dinner and bingo and a week later, April 24, a number of members will take part in a bowling tournament at the Michigan State Fair Bowl in Detroit.

It goes in here...

The beginning of a chocolate Easter bunny is when the molten chocolate runs into a mold, then is allowed to cool until it takes shape. Evans Corden of the Candy Carousel in Inkster presides over the warm chocolate vat and fills one of the metal molds that are "heirlooms" in his candymaking business. Corden, who has followed in his father's footsteps as a candymaker, enjoys his work. — ANP photo.

Candy Carousel gears up for 'bunny' business rush

By KAY DeBORD

With Easter coming up, do you have a yen for an edible bunny that is green? Or pink? Or yellow?

At Evans Corden's Candy Carousel in Inkster they can be found. And regardless of color, they all taste like "chocolate" bunnies in the more prevalent brown.

But, according to the candymaker, most people prefer the white chocolate bunnies.

This is the busiest season of the year for Corden, who has carried on a family tradition by supplying candy to fanciers in the western metropolitan Detroit area.

Corden's father established a tradition when he went into the candymaking business in a different location some 62 years ago. The business has moved west and so has the reputation for quality has moved along with it.

Sadly, perhaps, the family tradition may die out with Evans Corden because his four sons chose to go into other professions, and with his blessing.

"You have to like the work, or there's no use doing it," Corden said, as he poured chocolate into yet another bunny mold at his place of business for more than 14 years. "This is the time of year when you don't count the hours worked," according to Corden, who puts in 10 to 12 hours a day at this time of year and sometimes "doesn't go home at all."

Did you know that you live in a "milk chocolate" area? Well, that's the most popular with candy buyers, Corden said. Dark chocolate is preferred in the East and the Chicago area, but the taste for dark chocolate is slowly growing in the Detroit area, he added.

At the Candy Carousel, Corden is the only candymaker, but he credits his assistants, Gladys Johnson and Margie Thomas, whose interest in the business contributes to its success.

In addition to helping his father in the original business, Corden also attended a school for candymakers in Erie, Penna., and keeps up with innovations in the candy world through attendance at conventions with his wife, Maria.

"I try to learn wherever I can," Corden said, and one of the things he is learned is to bypass inferior products and stick to good ingredients.

"If you can't sell good stuff, there's no use in making inferior because you can't sell that either," he added.

The pangs felt by the small businessman are no stranger to Corden, who has faced difficult times in getting the materials he needs from the top suppliers.

"The big orders go out first, and I wait to get quality supplies even if it takes longer," explained the candymaker.

He's proud of the old-fashioned metal molds that he uses in making bunnies, chicks and other shapes. They were handed down from his father and work far better than the plastic ones that promoted today.

He also gives his machinery tender, loving care because they have to be made to order — and again — big companies get preferential treatment. The way Corden explains it, matter-of-factly, it's the way of life, and he's accepted it.

One thing about being in the candy business, Corden said, "you don't get bored." And he surveyed the array of Easter eggs, baskets, chicks, space men, cars and other forms of chocolate that fill the display area of the Carousel.

"My wife would like it better if I had better hours, time for vacations and a social life, but she's proud of the business, too," Corden said, adding "Her father was in the restaurant business so she knows how it is."

And if she didn't understand and urged him into another occupation, we have a feeling she would have an unhappy husband, whose heart was still in "Candyland."

Here's some answers about Savings Bonds

The millions of Americans who purchase U.S. Savings Bonds regularly through the Payroll Savings or Bond-A-Month Plans have asked thousands of questions about Savings Bonds and their Bond holdings. Most are specific to their own needs, but many others are of interest to anyone who purchases, or who is thinking of purchasing, Savings Bonds. A few of these questions, with the answers, follow.

Q: I have noticed some inconsistencies in the redemption tables for Series E Bonds. For instance, an E Bond issued in June 1951 is worth more than one issued in May of that year. How did this come about?

A: Series E Bonds issued prior to September 1976 increase in value at the end of each six-month holding period. It is logical, then, that older Bonds will always be worth more than newer. There are, however, exceptions caused by the following circumstances.

In 1959, for the first time, outstanding E Bonds were granted an interest-rate increase along with new issues. The regulations provided that the increase would become effective with the first interest period beginning on or after June 1, 1959. As a result, a June 1951 issue began to earn interest at the higher rate immediately, while the May 1951 Bond did not begin to earn the higher rate until November 1959. In the five-month interim, the June Bond passed the May Bond in value, and continues to be worth more at the end of corresponding interest periods.

Interest-rate increases in December 1965, June 1968, June 1969, June 1970, and December 1973 followed the same policy, compounding the disparities in some cases.

Q: Who pays the tax on Savings Bonds whose ownership is transferred from parent to child? Also, who is liable for the tax on Bonds bought by a parent for a child, but registered in coownership form?

A: In the first case, such a transfer results in a taxable event, meaning that the parent is liable for any tax due on the interest earned up until the time of transfer. The child is liable for the tax on the interest earned thereafter. In the latter case, the co-owner who actually paid for the Bonds is liable for any tax due, no matter which co-owner cashed the Bonds.

...And it's a bunny

The mold that has formed the warm chocolate into a bunny that is part of Easter tradition for many youngsters, and is among a variety

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

When looking at a modern orchestra, you will see a great many string instruments. They have not always dominated orchestras so completely. Baroque period orchestras, dating from around 1720, were more like chamber groups. Strings were still the basis, numbering twelve, but there were only twenty-four pieces in the entire orchestra as opposed to the over one hundred musicians and sixty-two string players in most twentieth century orchestras. The classical period, centering around 1790 was a kind of in-between point, featuring about forty musicians and a twenty-six string section.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

You'll see signs like this cropping up all over town as people individually and in groups get together the items around their homes that they no longer need and offer them for sale.... in their garage, the yard or their basement.

These signs do their job well in directing those people passing through the neighborhood to the correct address. But to get the people in the neighborhood in the first place you need a different kind of sign. One that you place in the Classified section of this newspaper.

A Classified Ad is the easiest, least expensive way of telling people all over town about your sale.

When you've set your dates, give us a call and let us help you word your ad.
